NEW SCHOOL OPENS FOR TRIO OF CLASSES

Broadway High Takes Care Of Advanced Pupils and Freshmen at Harvard

The three upper classes of the Glendale Union High school shut their books last Friday afternoon on the work of the first semester of 1923-1924, at the Harvard street plant, and opened them this morning on the work of the second semester, at the great new East Broadway structure, without the loss of a single hour in the carefully planned schedule.

This afternoon the first year class opened their second semester at the old building, which will henceworth be known as the "Harvard High," to distinguish it from the "Broadway High," where the fortunate upper classmen congregate.

Regular Classes

Tomorrow morning, Tuesday, February 5, regular classroom work will be resumed at both plants, according to George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High school, and the directing head of the movement just executed.

Those who have 8 o'clock classes will report to their roll rooms at that hour, he states, while those whose classes do not start until 9 o'clock will report at that hour, in all cases reporting to the roll rooms indicated in the printed schedules, so that whatever equalization necessary may be effected.

This applies to both the Broadway and the Harvard high schools, Mr. Moyse states, adding for the benefit of those who may not have examined their schedules carefully that the location of rooms is as follows:

Broadway—1 to 99, basement; 100 to 199, main floor; 200 to 299, upper floor; 300 to 349, first floor Science building; 350 to 399, second floor Science building.

Harvard—1 to 42, Administration building; 100 to 143, Household Arts building; 200 to 227, Mechanical Arts building; 300 to 309, bungalows; 310, girls' gymnasium; 311, boys' gymnasium.

Meet Teachers

Today was consumed largely, at both plants, in students meeting teachers and receiving their first instructions in their new work. It was over at 1 o'clock in the Broadway high, beginning at that hour in the Harvard high, and continuing until 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

At the Broadway high many of the students arrived at 7 o'clock in the morning, reports Principal Moyse, so anxious were they to begin work in the new plant. At 8 o'clock they assembled in the auditorium, close to 2000 strong, where, under the direction of Archie Neal, yell leader, they let off several dozen lusty yells of appreciation for the new and beautiful plant.

Following the flag service, saddened by the necessity for flying the coolrs at half-mast because of the death of Woodrow Wilson, war president and world figure, Principal George U. Moyse of the Glendale Union High school informally addressed the student body, calling their attention to the fact that the new plant, costing over $600,000, and one of the finest in southern California, is the common property of all, and the common duty of all to care for it.

While the Broadway High now stands completed so far as the buildings go, there still remain uncompleted many of the details necessary for a harmonious whole. Contracts have been let for grading and landscaping the high school grounds, Mr. Moyse states, and the sprinkling system is at present being installed. Other work is also under progress and in a few more weeks the great plant will present as harmonious an appearance from the outside as from the inside.

FIVE DEAD, SIX OTHERS MADE ILL BY CANNED FOOD

ALBANY, Ore., Feb. 4. — Five persons were dead and six others are seriously ill today as the result of eating canned food here Saturday. Mrs. Paul Gerbig and her two small daughters—Marie, aged 7, and Hilda, 10, died Sunday afternoon, and Mr. and Mrs. Gotfried Ruhling died early today.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Gerber, Paul Gerbig, two of his small children and the young child of Mr. and Mrs. Ruhling are reported near death today. John Yunker, a friend of the Gerbig and Gerber families, is also reported ill, but not seriously.

An investigation today revealed the twelve victims had partaken of a meal at the Gerber home Saturday at which a jar of home-canned beans was part of the menu. Mrs. Gerber said she suspected the beans to be affected when she opened them, but thought little of their suspicions. All the victims were affected similarly with blindness and affection of the bronchial tubes.

SENATORS YIELD HONOR TO WILSON

Solons of Both Parties Join In Reverent Tribute to Ex-President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The United States senate with whom Woodrow Wilson was in violent conflict during the latter days of his administration, paid reverential tribute to the former president today.

With bowed heads, the senators on the floor and the spectators in the galleries heard from Senator Joe T. Robinson, the Democratic leader, announcement of Mr. Wilson's death and then from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts, the expresident's most bitter political opponent, a tribute to his graetness.

Fireworks Rattle In New Year Greetings

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—The rattle of fire crackers ushered in the observance of the Chinese new year in Chinatown despite the edict of Fire Marshal Hannan that there should be no fire crackers this year.

Inasmuch as the millions of fire crackers set off every year are for the purpose of driving to cover the bad devils that have affected business, pleasure, love and life in general during the past year, new year's without the noise would be of little avail.

No learned counsel was employed and a compromise reached whereby forbidden fire crackers may be exploded within certain areas and at certain times.

Incidentally all Chinese are settling their debts. That is another way of getting rid of the bad devils and is a custom adhered to by every Chinaman.

Amusement Zone In Lincoln Park Burns

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—Fire of mysterious origin early today destroyed a large portion of the Lincoln park amusement zone, and did damage estimated at $18,000, according to investigating officers.

BIG BLIZZARD CONTINUING WITH FURY

Southeastern Colorado and Western Kansas Hard Hit By Storm

DENVER, Feb. 4.—Lack of communication makes it impossible to give an accurate account of the damage done by a terrific blizzard which for the past twenty-four hours has swept southeastern Colorado and western Kansas, while telephone and telegraph companies report a total failure to all their lines.

All of the Missouri Pacific lines are down and as a consequence all train schedules are cancelled.

The gale is increasing in intensity hourly, Colorado and Dodge City, Kansas, a report from the latter place said this morning, while huge drifts of snow obscured the tracks and roads in many places.

Auto Highway Blocked

Wind seriously threatened the telephone exchange at Fowler, seventy-five miles east of Pueblo, for several hours.

The automobile highway between Denver and Colorado Springs is blocked but the rail lines have been kept open by constant running of snow plows between these points.

Except for a high wind which raged all day Sunday, Denver was not visited by the storm king.

There was no loss of life reported from the storm area.

Rain In Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 4.—Rising temperatures, southerly winds and rain in western Oregon today were the exact reverse of conditions through the middle west, where rapidly dropping temperatures, high north winds and snow had paralyzed wire communication.

Despite rain and warmer winds the rise in the Willamette river has been checked. The river at Portland stood at 9.6 feet today or more than five feet below flood stage. The rainfall at Portland Sunday was .88 of an inch, but in the Willamette valley only a light shower was reported.

Storm Warnings

Although storm warnings were flying along the Oregon and Washington coasts, this disturbance was expected to bring warm southerly winds and rain to the western part of the state. The temperature at Portland today was 53 degrees, and rising.

At North Platte, Neb., the temperature was 20 degrees and falling rapidly, and high winds prevailed. East of that point the weather bureau was unable to obtain reports.

Wire Service Halted

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—Communication between the east and west today was prostrated as a result of storms through Nebraska which played havoc with wires.

Beginning early last night the storm, which was reported as centering about Omaha, began to affect the wires and early today the telephone and telegraph companies reported complete failures of their "leads" to the east.

Strenuous efforts were being made by large crews of repairmen to re-establish the lines and restore communication.

Veritable summer weather prevailed as far east as Denver. In California temperatures were high, and Denver was enjoying the warmest weather in weeks.

NEWELECTRIC LINE GREAT CITY ASSET

Union Pacific Passenger Depot to Be Built In Year, Belief

Plans for a Union Pacific passenger station in Glendale and Pullman service to New York within a year were outlined Saturday afternoon in Verdugo Woodlands by W. H. Comstock, general manager of the Union Pacific lines, at the speaking program that concluded the celebration over the opening of the Glendale avenue electric line to Glassell Park.

The luncheon that preceded the program was staged by F. P. Newport & Company, under auspices of the Glendale Improvement Association, President C. W. Ingledue acting as toastmaster.

Offers Praise

"We have never dealt with a fairer group of people than the officials of the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company," declared Mr. Comstock. He then called out A. E. Berlin of Glendale, assistant engineer of the Los Angeles & Salt Lake division, who had full charge of the electrification project, and publicly praised him for the ability and dispatch displayed in completing the work.

Councilman Sam Davis of Glendale, one of the leaders in the project, spoke of the movement as a decided forward step and said it would not be long before the company would be obliged to double-track Glendale avenue, so great would be the traffic.

"With a 10-cent fare from Glendale to all points of Los Angeles, the electrification of Glendale avenue at once becomes one of the paramount accomplishments of this city," he said, "and one that is destined to have far-reaching consequences in its development and growth.

No More Factions

"Glendale is now out of the small town class. We have realized at last that what concerns one section of Glendale concerns all of Glendale. This is one of the paramount lessons that every city must learn before it becomes truly big.

"Glendale is the best organized and best financed city in the United States," was the parting thought the councilman left with his audience.

M. C. de Brabant, traffic manager of the Union Pacific system, declared that "the brains of Los Angeles rest in Glendale," referring to the fact that this city has consistently, for many years, won first prize in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, and stating that in many instances men selected by him for promotion turned out to be Glendalians.

Needs Industries

Mr. de Brabant stressed industrial expansion as the problem most intimately concerning Glendale, if a population of 150,000 is to be reached by 1930.

"You are ideally situated as regards transportation," he said. "With a market of 400,000,000 people living contiguous to the Pacific ocean, and situated as you are, there is no reason why this city cannot become one of the industrial leaders of the Pacific Southwest."

J. G. Jeffery of the public works department of the Los Angeles Railway company spoke of the decided benefits accruing to Glendale and Eagle Rock from the electrification of the Glendale avenue line. Percy J. Hayselden of the Glendale Improvement association, another leader in the great project, told how the $25,000 bonus was put over, making possible the co-operation of the

According to police, McMullin admitted his identity, but denied any connection with the alleged crime. Clarence "Tuffy" Reid is under conviction of murder in the first degree in connection with the killing. Weingarten was shot to death in his factory.

SCHICK SLAYING HEARING STARTS

Clark's Preliminary Rouses Interest in San Diego Murder Charge

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 4.—Public interest in the case of Everett Drew Clark, accused of the murder of his former associate George E. Schick, centered today on Clark's preliminary hearing, held before a justice of the peace, on the murder charge.

Filing of the complaint, in which Clark is accused of wilfully slaying Schick, which was done Saturday, crowded entirely into the background the accusations of forgery and conspiracy on which Clark has been held in the county jail with his wife, Etta May Clark, since last October.

The forgery case was also scheduled to start today in the superior court, but legal technicalities affecting both court moves may cause a change in the proposed program.

FAMILY DECIDES AGAINST ELABORATE STATE SERVICE; NATIONS BOW IN SORROW

Ceremonies to Take Place Next Wednesday at Residence; Body to Remain at Chapel Till Final Resting Place Is Decided Upon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Funeral services for Woodrow Wilson will be conducted privately at the residence at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, it was announced here today by Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, the former president's physician and personal friend.

After the service, attended only by the family and intimate friends, the body will be taken to Bethlehem chapel, Washington Cathedral, at Mount St. Albans, in northwest Washington, until its final resting place is determined upon.

The family decided against a state funeral. Plans that had been in the making for the body to lay in state in the rotunda of the Capitol were abandoned.

It is understood the plans for private services were in accordance with the wishes of the former president.

Select Pastor

The services at the home will be in charge of the Rev. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Washington, assisted by the Rev. Sylvester Beach, of Princeton, formerly pastor of the Wilson family, who officiated at the services for the first Mrs. Wilson and also at the wedding of the McAdoos.

At the cathedral, the services will be in charge of Dr. James A. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington.

Bishop Freeman announced that the body of the ex-president probably would be buried permanently under the main aisle of the national cathedral after it has lain for a short time in the crypt.

Plans Undecided

Intimates of the Wilson family said, however, it was entirely unlikely that the permanent resting place of the former president would be in the national cathedral.

Final interment, they said, would take place in one of four places—at Arlington cemetery, overlooking the Potomac; at Princeton, N. J.; Staunton, Va., or at Charleston, S. C., where the former president's parents are buried.

Only the simplest of ceremonies will be observed throughout, it was revealed later this afternoon.

The honor guard will be confined to soldiers, sailors and marines, to be designated by the secretaries of war and navy, and the service men also will act as body bearers.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge and the chief justice and Mrs. Taft will be both at the home services and at the cathedral services, representing the nation's officialdom.

Seven Years Ago

Woodrow Wilson's death came exactly seven years to the day after the United States severed relations with the imperial German government.

On February 3, 1917, President Wilson went before a joint session of congress and explained the circumstances leading up to the break, asked for a vote of confidence and got it overwhelmingly.

A little more than two months later the United States was in the war.

Expressions of Sorrow Come From Whole World

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—In the calm peacefulness of death, Woodrow Wilson slept in his modest little house in S street today, while a reverent nation and an inspired world passed silently by and laid on his doorstep belated tributes to his greatness.

A commanding figure in life, America's great war-time president became in death an even loftier and more towering symbol of the ideals for which he gave his life. And his passing from the stage of world affairs, on which he had so long played the leading role, called forth expressions of sorrow in such volume as never before witnessed.

Sincere Tribute

From the far corners of the earth today came messages to mourn his going. A simple slip of paper that bore the words of a European monarch lay side by side on the hall table with the single rose that was the mute offering of a plainly dressed woman whose identity was obscured by the tear-stained veil that hid her face.

The world, no less than America, hastened to give Woodrow Wilson, in death, that which had been denied him in the latter days of his turbulent life—the sincere acknowledgment that, when the book of time is closed, his name will be seen high among the great ones of all time.

Messages of sorrow came from London, where he deigned to visit

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—All official action in the naval oil reserve leasing scandal came to a complete standstill today out of respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson.

Congress met and adjourned immediately and the public lands committee could not obtain reaffirmation of its authority to conduct its investigations. The committee tomorrow will ask the Senate to pass again the oil probing resolutions on which former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall based his refusal to testify further before the committee.

Pending the reappearance of Fall, probably Wednesday, the committee has decided not to hear other witnesses and if Fall again fails to answer questions, then the committee will begin immediately afterwards to bring contempt proceedings against him, it was learned.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Throughout London, American flags today floated at half mast in tribute to the memory of Woodrow Wilson. All newspapers predicted that only the future can estimate the greatness of the late statseman.

Richardson's Message

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 4.—Governor Richardson today paid tribute to former President Wilson in the following statement:

"While the people of the nation mourn the death of Woodrow Wilson, they should solemnly consider his high ideals and his noble efforts to insure peace for the people of the whole world. Wilson's name will live in history and his message bear fruit."

Flags will fly at half mast on all school and public buildings and on the day of the ex-president's funeral special exercises will be held.

Wood Pays Tribute

MANILA, Feb. 4.—Governor General Wood today ordered the flags at half mast until after the funeral of ex-President Wilson, and cancelled a schedule reception for members of the legislature tonight.

The legislative sessions were adjourned after passing resolutions for a joint committee to consider the best means of honoring the former president's memory. Governor Wood declared:

"I join with all Americans in their sympathy with the widow and their regret over the death of an American who occupied such an exalted position in the nation."

Evening News Bulletins Tell Of Wilson Death

Once again International News Service brought to Glendale and The Glendale Evening News the first news of a big national event. Sunday morning, at 9:33 o'clock, shortly more than an hour after former President Woodrow Wilson's death, the word was received here over the Western Union wires, having been relayed from the radio there.

Shortly thereafter George R. Holmes, manager of the Washington bureau of International News Service, followed the first bulletin with a story of the former president's death, which was placed on The Glendale Evening News bulletin window and read by hundreds returning from church. And thus the news was quickly spread throughout Glendale.

F. K. M'NEIL NOW WITH PENDROY'S

Increasing Business Brings New resident to Take Department Charge

When F. K. McNeil arrived recently from the north with his wife and two children, Glendale profited doubly, for in addition to acquiring a new loyal and public spirited resident, a valuable member was added to the staff at the Pendroy Department store at South Brand boulevard and Harvard street.

Mr. McNeil has come to Pendroy's to assume the duties of buyer in the ready to wear department, and he comes with a splendid background. He has had many years' experience as a buyer with a New York market and was with Culberson's and the Crescent Dry Goods company of Spokane, Washington.

Many Responsibilities

In taking up his work at the Pendroy store Mr. McNeil is taking over the heavier and many arduous duties formerly handled by Mrs. Pendroy. The increasing business and greater demands on her time, in giving personal attention to patrons, necessitated the addition of a man of Mr. McNeil's capabilities to the ready to wear floor of the store.

Mrs. Pendroy will now be free to give more time to the personal needs and requirements of the fast growing cliente and patronage of this store, especially in the ready to wear, millinery and children's departments.

The growth of the ready to wear business of Pendroy's has been forcibly demonstrated by the necessity of taking over a portion of the Citizens' building, just to the north. This addition is being rapidly remodeled and altered, and will be known as the second floor annex, where the ready to wear and fine shoes will be found.

Plan Open House

These alterations are nearly completed and within the next week or so will be occupied and an open house affair held.

In taking up his work Mr. McNeli has exhibited enthusiasm and ability and has already made plans for an "introductory sale" in his department. He has arranged some splendid bargains for inspection. This goods has not been displayed in the windows on account of the new backgrounds being installed for the big spring opening.

Mr. McNeil and his family are temporarily located at 1216 Hague court. They are members of the First Congregational church.

Glendale Is Now Fourth Largest City in County

Pomona is advertising it is the fourth largest town in Los Angeles county. It states in its literature that it has 19,000 population.

The Glendale Evening News respectfully calls the Chamber of Commerce's attention to this, because Glendale is the FOURTH largest city in Los Angeles county, exceeded only by Los Angeles, Long Beach and Pasadena. Glendale has 30,000 population.

If oil promoters may be censured for misstatements, why not civic boosters as well? Pomona doesn't stand knee-high to "the fastest growing city," though it should be commended for advertising.

CENTRAL AVE. PROPERTY OWNERS, ATTENTION!

A number of property owners on Central Avenue have examined the street as widened between Cypress and Los Feliz and have suggested that it might be well to set the curb back NOW while waiting for the condemnation proceedings on the ten-foot strip back of the sidewalk.

This means that the trees would all have to come out NOW, which is contrary to the understanding had with the property owners at the time the petitions were signed.

There is no desire on the part of anyone to abrogate this verbal agreement, but many arguments have been presented in favor of the move now.

In order to bring out all the arguments and have a full, free and frank discussion of the matter it is deemed advisable to call a meeting of the owners of property between Lexington St. and San Fernando Road fronting on Central Ave., therefore said property owners are requested to be present at the Old High School Auditorium on Harvard St. at 7:30 o'clock sharp, Wednesday evening, February 6, 1924. Meeting will close promptly at 9 p. m.

Gentlemen:—

Find check enclosed for "Direct Action" gas range. My wife is more than pleased with her purchase, the stove is one of her best investments, and makes cooking a pleasure, and does things almost uncanny. She put her Christmas fruit cake in the oven in the evening, regulated the temperature on the "Lorain Regulator" marked "very low"; went to bed, awakened in the morning to find her cake all done and as pretty as could be. It certainly seems fine to have a stove that works while one sleeps. Needless to say we are pleased.

DECIDE AGAINST STATE CEREMONY

Private Funeral Will Take Place Next Wednesday At Family Home

a king and called him 'Sir' instead of "Your Majesty"; from Paris, where he spent the most momentous days of his epochal life in retracing the map of the world; from Rome, where he was first acclaimed with the fervor that was almost idolatrous, and then hated with a vehemence that amounted to obsession; from the Americas, whose closer kinship he sought to further; from far Philippines, whose independence he favored; from the Orient, in whose affairs he occasionally dipped with a strong and firm hand.

At Half-Mast

Wherever the printed word is known, and wherever the echoes of a great conflict penetrated, Woodrow Wilson was known, and the acclaim that was sometimes denied him in life came to him today while he slept his last long sleep in the quiet home in S street in the backwash of present-day affairs.

On the national capitol, and on public buildings, everywhere flags whipped at half-staff. They will remain so thirty days, the period of official mourning set aside by proclamation of President Coolidge.

At the capitol itself the sounds of conflict and bitter partisan strife that have marked recent weeks were stilled as both houses of congress met and then adjourned out of respect to his memory.

The family of the former president would have his funeral services and his burial conducted as private affairs but there are others, public officials and personal friends, who believed that Mr. Wilson should be accorded a funeral and burial consistent with the honors he won.

Tribute By Taft

William Howard Taft whom he succeeded urged the members of the family to have a state funeral.

"The world," said the chief justice, "will not understand anything else."

Princeton university, where he was first professor and then president for so many years and from whence he came like a flaming meteor into public life, would like to have him back for burial on the campus grounds with other distinguished sons of Princeton. Virginians would like to see his final resting be in the soil that gave him birth at Staunton with its historical memories.

Woodrow Wilson, World War president, sleeps an eternal peace.

The great human machine, which he himself said on Friday had broken down, slowed to a stop at 11:15 yesterday morning.

His indomitable spirit slipped quietly into the great beyond for which he was ready.

Parting Glance

Death was but the end of sleep. Realizing the end was at hand, he had closed his eyes upon the world early Saturday evening and opened them but once again at midnight to bestow a parting glance of recognition upon his faithful, patient wife, maintaining her four and a half years' constant vigil at his side.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, trusted physician and probably the closest personal friend of his former commander-in-chief, Miss Margaret Wilson, a daughter, and two nurses were the others at the bedside. The family had been told an hour and a half earlier that life was fast ebbing away.

Mrs. Wilson sat on one side of the bed, holding her husband's right hand. The daughter sat opposite, watching the faint spark of life flicker and go out.

The final summons came so peacefully neither realized the soul had flown until the trained hand of Doctor Grayson, counting the pulse of the left hand, felt the feeble heart beats grow feebler, slower, hesitate—and stop.

Gently he told them their husband and father had gone. For a moment they sat motionless, bowed in grief, tears streaming down their cheeks.

Grayson assisted the widow to her feet and arranged the ex-president in death.

The three turned into the hallway. Half way through the door Mrs. Wilson looked back, in unrestrained sobbing, and was taken to her own room.

Makes Announcement

Admiral Grayson hastily prepared the official announcement and within five minutes, tears in his eyes and choking back sobs, appeared in the doorway before the waiting newspaper men and 200 men, women and children who had taken up their stand in silent S street since early morning.

The physician's drawn face told the sad news even before he began distributing copies of the bulletin.

The statement read:

"11:20 a. m., Feb. 3, 1924—Mr. Wilson died at 11:15 this morning. His heart's action became feebler and feebler and the heart muscle was so fatigued that it refused to act any longer. The end came peacefully.

"The remote causes of death lie in his ill health which began four years ago, namely, arteriosclerosis with meiphlegia.

"The immediate cause of death was exhaustion following a digestive disturbance which began in the early part of last week, but did not reach an acute stage until the early morning hours of February 1."

Later, describing the scene in the death chamber, Doctor Grayson said:

"Like a tired man, he just went to sleep. No word was spoken. After lying unconscious for hours he showed fleeting signs of consciousness. His eyes opened and remained open for ten minutes. But he said nothing, and they closed again. In another fifteen minutes his heart stopped and he ceased to breathe."

Nippon Statesmen Sorrow At Passing of Advocate Of World Accord

By DUKE N. PARRY
For International News Service.

TOKIO, Feb. 4.—"In the death of Woodrow Wilson the world has seen the tragic end of a man whose advocacy of friendship and accord among nations was conspicuous and far reaching," Baron Matsui, foreign minister of Japan, declared in an exclusive statement to International News Service when informed of the death of the former president of the United States.

"The finer, wiser qualities of his principles, I had an opportunity to recognize at the Paris conference, the same as were recognized by every man holding at heart the true interest of humanity. His death will be widely lamented in Japan."

Baron Matsui's expression of sorrow was echoed by Baron Chidehara, former ambassador to the United States, and other prominent statesmen.

News of the illness and death of the United States war president received the most prominent display in the Japanese newspapers.

PRESIDENT PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE

Thirty Day Mourning Period Ordered by Executive in Proclamation

President Calvin Coolidge has issued the following proclamation on the death of Woodrow Wilson:

To the People of the United States:

The death of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States from March 4, 1913, to March 4, 1921, which occurred at 11:15 o'clock Sunday at his home at Washington, District of Columbia, deprives the country of a most distinguished citizen, and is an event which causes universal and genuine sorrow. To many of us it brings the sense of a profound personal bereavement.

His early profession as a lawyer was abandoned to enter academic life. In this chosen field he attained the highest rank as an educator and has left his impress upon the intellectual throughout the country. From the presidency of Princeton university he was called by his fellow citizens to be the chief executive of the state of New Jersey. The duties of this high office he so conducted as to win the confidence of the people of the United States, who twice elected him to the chief magistracy of the republic. As president of the United States he was moved by an earnest desire to promote the best interests of the country as he conceived them. His acts were prompted by high motives and his sincerity of purpose cannot be questioned. He led the nation through the terrific struggle of the world war with a lofty idealism which never failed him. He gave utterance to the aspiration of humanity with an eloquence which held the attention of all the earth and made America a new and enlarged influence in the destiny of mankind.

In testimony of the respect in which his memory is held by the government and the people of the United States, I do hereby direct that the flags of the White House and of the several departmental buildings be displayed at half staff for a period of thirty days and that suitable military and naval honors, under orders of the secretary of war and of the secretary of the navy, may be rendered on the day of the funeral.

Done at the city of Washington, this third day of February, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-eighth.

(Signed) CALVIN COOLIDGE.

By the President:

Charles Evans Hughes,
Secretary of State.

DR. VACK WINNER OF ORATORY CUP

Glendale Chiropractor Gains Credit for Outlining Ethical Code

Dr. Albert Vack, D. C., of 205 East Harvard street, is the latest Glendalian to bring honor to his city by competitive achievement, last Saturday winning a beautiful silver loving-cup in the oratorical contest held at the Music Arts hall, Los Angeles, in connection with the eleventh annual convention of the California State Chiropractic society, February 1 to 3. The cup is on display at the Security Trust & Savings bank branch, corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway.

Ten other chiropractors competed with Dr. Vack for the trophy, including delegates from San Diego, Hollywood, Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Santa Ana. The subject was "A California Chiropractic Code of Ethics.' The cup was presented by the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic. Ten minutes were allowed each contestant in which to cover his subject.

Tells Ethical Code

Dr. Vack declared in his prize-winning address that a chiropractic code of ethics must be based on natural laws, recognizing not only the material, but the mental and spiritual; that such a code must be flexible enough to give every parctitioner the greatest opportunity and liberty to expand and unfold to the highest science of the healing art; and that it must be restricted enough to remind all practitioners of their unbounded moral duty and responsibility to fellow practitioners and coherent followers, for the protection of all.

The cup was publicly awarded to Dr. Vack Saturday night, at the annual banquet of the society, held at the Alexander hotel, Los Angeles.

P.-T. A. Federation to Celebrate Birthday

Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of program for the federation, is arranging the program, and she announces that one of the features will be a big birthday cake bearing twenty-seven candles.

All past presidents of the Glendale federation are invited as special guests, and those attending will each light a candle and make a wish. Other events of the evening will be music and speeches.

Mrs. Henry is to meet the presidents of the various associations at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the juvenile room at the public library.

Nothing for the little kiddies to get caught in, no exposed parts, simple to operate, and has a solid copper tub. This is the washer I have been harping about. Why? Because we sold 327 of them in ten months' time, and we have yet to receive a complaint from them.

Evangelist Kerr Delivers Stirring Address at Methodist Church

Large audiences greeted the Kerr brothers, evangelists, at both services of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday. They both expressed their pleasure at being in Glendale, and commended its enterprise and general attractiveness.

The close attention of the hearers manifested unusual interest in both the singing and addresses of the evangelists. Dr. Henry I. Rasmus introduced them in a warm welcome to the church, and bespoke the hearty co-operation of all the departments of the church. "We welcome you to our midst and anticipate great results from your ministry among us." he said.

Rev. J. McD. Kerr spoke at the morning service. Rev Kerr has held many important pastorates in the east, one of the last being at Toronto Canada.

"My text," he said, "is an unusual one, and if I present to you this morning nothing especially new or original I am sure that I shall bring to you a text that you have not heard before. Isaiah 45-8. 'Drop down, ye heavens from above and let the skies pour down righteousness; let the earth open and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I, the Lord, have created it.'

Typifies Harmony

"This beautiful symbolism of my text typifies the harmony existing between the heavens and the earth. The grass, the plants, the trees are their products. The heavens depending upon the earth; the earth alike needing the co-operation of the heavens with its warmth and rains and dew. My text symbolizes further the unity between the human and the divine. How dependent mankind is upon the showers of divine grace and refreshings from the Lord. When Christ was here upon earth how often he made plain the great truths of his gospel by symbols of every-day life. The hen and her chickens, the leaven and the meal, the sower going forth to sow. In this particular parable he shows that it is not always the fault of the sower or preacher if a harvest does not follow.

The condition of the soil is a determining factor. The plain responsibility of the church is to turn men's minds Godward and heavenward. Man is a sovereign and God cannot save him against his will. Neither can man get saved against God's will.

Needs United Effort

"There must be the united effort of God from above and man from beneath. Then shall he be 'like the tree planted by the rivers of water,' everlastingly refreshed. Therefore his leaves shall not wither, perpetually bearing fruit.

"I noticed yesterday for the first time a lemon tree. And what impressed me was its capacity for fruit bearing, ripe lemons, green lemons, lemon blossoms all on the same tree.

"That is a symbol of my text, the human and divine, heavens above and earth beneath all uniting to bear fruit, God's righteousness that Jesus brought down from above.

"The church is the great fulcrum to raise the nation up to righteousness.

"There were never more earnest men than today; interested in missions and the spread of the gospel of Christ.

"That alone is the object of this kingdom campaign, and we want everyone to help, even if all you can do is to speak a good word for these meetings.

"Tell your friends and neighbors and bring them along with you the coming week."

Soul Testing Topic Of Rev. Livingston

"Soul Testing" was the subject of the sermon by the Rev. J. C. Livingston, who addressed his congregation at the morning service. He chose as his text the words, "And he left all, and rose and followed him," taken from the fifth chapter of the book of Luke. The sermon was based on the story of Matthew, customs collector, who held the most responsible position the power of the Roman government could confer, the supervision of the most strategic point of the great highway traversed by peoples from Egypt and Asia. His spectacular leaving to follow Christ, lifted out of the heart of political influence, by the magnetism that appealed to the truer things that lay beneath the desire for gain or power; God put the sense of adhesion in us; He is the magnet drawing the steel; He tests the soul; the thing that is right that we can do, is the thing that we ought to be always found doing."

An anthem "Praise the Name of the Lorld" (Faris), was sung by the choir; a soprano solo, "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" (Gounod), was sung by Mrs. Robert D. Jones. The pastor spoke at the evening service on "Spiritual Temperance." Special music number was "God Be With Us," sung by a chorus of men's voices.

Preceding the morning service, the pastor advised those present of the notice just received of the death of ex-President Woodrow Wilson.

RETIRES FROM POLITICS

ROME, Feb. 4.—Definite announcement was made today that Signor Orlando, Italy's war premier, has retired from politics. This is expected to give Premier Mussolini's Fascisti party about one million additional votes in Southern Italy in the forthcoming election.

Trading At Home Good Policy for Property Owners

A number of factors have contributed to the phenomenal increase in real estate values in Glendale in the past four or five years. And the loyalty of the citizens to the community, expressed by giving their trade to the home stores is not the least of the causes of these rising prices.

Men and women with sufficient judgment to buy real estate in Glendale are wise enough to know that when they go out of town to buy things they can find at the same prices in the home stores, they are biting off their own noses.

Your home is worth probably twice as much as it was a year or two ago, and this is due in part to Glendale's wide-awake business men, up-to-date business policies and attractive business houses. Do you know any city stagnant or backward in its business activities, with poorly trained professional and trade workers, ill-kept stores and offices? That city is not growing in population and influence with rising real estate values.

So, Mr. Glendale Property Owner, the business you have given the local stores, professions and trades has redounded to your own interests. In helping to build up the business interests of Glendale you have helped automatically to increase the value of your own property.

It has been said many times in this column that co-operation is essential in community building, a trite saying, it is true, but worth repetition. Your trade helps the Glendale business man to put up a good front and the showing that he makes in the way of an attractive store, reasonable prices and city store service adds to the value of your real estate holdings in Glendale.

Ages ago man began living in communities for mutual help and protection against hostile tribes. As civilization has progressed we have become more dependent upon each other. We cannot isolate ourselves. We must help and co-operate with each other.

Glendale people are bringing Community Co-operation to a point nearing 100 per cent efficiency. Help the advertisers on this page in their campaign to promote Community Loyalty.

ELECTRIC LINE IS BIG CITY ASSET

Union Pacific with the Glendale & Montrose line in accomplishing the feat.

Many other prominent Glendalians and Angelenos spoke, the general tenor of their remarks being that with the electrification of the Glendale avenue line this city has entered upon a new phase of its development.

Visit Country Club

Following the program, the party were taken in automobiles to the Oakmont Country club, now nearing completion, as the guests of M. Walters, who with H. E. Barnum, stands back of the development of Sparr Heights and Montecito Park, immense development projects of North Glendale.

The day's celebration was concluded by a tour of the Montrose-La Crescenta line of the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company, under the personal supervision of Preston L. Hatch, general manager of the company.

When at 5 o'clock the three special cars that had borne the party on the historic trip returned to the G. & M. station on North Glendale avenue, it was agreed that the period had been put to as significant a day as has ever befallen this city.

Art Association Stages Celebration in Honor of Anniversary of Birthday

With the spirit of art and high ideals dominating good fellowship, a program of brilliant speeches on subjects dear to the heart of the lover of art, and the city beautiful, vocal music by recognized artists of ability, and last but not least, an enjoyable feast for the inner man, all combined to make the celebration of the Glendale Art association Saturday night an event to be long remembered.

On the walls of the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse were hung a number of fine pictures from the collection of Dr. and Mrs. T. Nichols, creating a delightful atmosphere combining art of the present with that of the past, for many of them were masterpieces from the schools of long ago.

Miss Ruthellen Miller of the Southland Trio delighted the listeners with a rendition of "Springtime Awakening" by Sanderson, and "The Tree," and later during the evening with "The Lilac Tree." An unusual treat were the numbers by Harry T. Robinson, "Creole Love Song" and "Bendemerrs Stream" and a last number, "Absent," which touched the hearts of the hearers and filled many an eye with tears.

Miss May Orcutt was accompanist.

Cotton's Address

John W. Cotton, etcher and painter, who is first vice-president, on behalf of the Art association, welcomed the guests and spoke briefly on the "City Beautiful." He said in part: "I believe that art is an essential thing in the life of any community. Let us not leave to future generations the things that we ought to do ourselves. The people of Glendale are standing by us. With our progress let us have equal thought of the civic beauty of our city, and be teachers of municipal and artistic things that go to make up the beauty of our home city."

Mrs. E. E. Leighton, state and district art chairman, spoke of "Art as a Luxury and as a Necessity," saying "History of all countries has been written in art.

"What made Athens a marvel of beauty was the contribution by every citizen toward the fund used to make the 'city beautiful.' People are pouring into Southern California from every land. We have the opportunity to become 'the Athens of America.' Nature has done her part to attract artists of every school. What are we going to do to keep them with us? If we are going to develop, we must have the support of the citizens. Southern California scenes have been wonderfully painted in the last few years by recognized artists. Let us hang them in our school rooms. We must make our school rooms more attractive than the dance hall. A child receives an impression that lives always. Art is the best thing in civilization; art is the best hope of a 'jazzed' world."

Commissioner Speaks

George E. Damon of the county zoning commission brought to the art lovers some splendid ideas for thought and consideration. Speaking principally of the California architecture, which came into being especially for the exposition in celebration of the opening of the Panama canal, he touched upon the art of city lighting, tree-planting, mural decorations, influence of color, and the work accomplished by various planning commissions.

Mrs. Frances Headlee, curator of the Laguna Art club, spoke on art commissions and their necessity. "California and Arizona together form a distinctive community developing distinctive art, and have gifts that have brought people from all parts of the globe, citizens of Europe are bringing us all the good things that were there; wealth is pouring in from everywhere; these have also brought to us a responsibility to pass this on to the future generation; the world is at our doors; St. Louis appropriated $83,000,000 with which to beautify the city; we can begin at the bottom by developing the art side of our lives, bringing art into every-day life; if we develop latent art we are taking the greatest step toward peace."

Urges Tree Planting

Marshall V. Hartranft, of Tujunga, spoke on "Tree Preservation" and brought to the club some remarkable statements relative to the history of local forestry. He spoke in particular of the planting Luken's pines, which have created the splendid watershed that supplies Pasadena; the credit of the accomplishment belonging to one man who was personally interested in forestry. Splendid ideas were also suggested that would be practical for the protection of Glendale in years to come, which would also add to the beauty of the Verdugo Hills.

Mrs. Julia Steelman Nichols, of 314 West Doran street, whose beautiful pictures were hung in the banquet hall, in especial honor of this birthday celebration, gave a most enjoyable twenty-minute talk, which sparkled with wittiism on these pictures. In this collection were works of many of the masters of the old English schools, of the Barbizon school of France, and several by American artists. All of them gems, and the talk by the owner, who is an art critic of national recognition, brought added pleasure to the viewing of these works of art.

Mrs. Roy E. Ballagh, president of the association, presided as mistress of ceremonies. The tables were decorated with jonquils and dainty greenery. A tiny birthday cake, with one golden yellow candle, centered the speakers' table. Covers were laid for one hundred and twenty-six artists and art lovers at this brilliant affair with which the organization enters upon the second year of activity in the efforts to create an art center that will sponsor all endeavors to make of Glendale the "most beautiful" city on the coast as well as the "fastest growing."

WARN TAXPAYERS TO FILE RETURNS

Congressional Action Will Not Change Rules, Is Collector's Edict

In an important warning sent out today, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell cautioned income taxpayers against being misled by congressional debate in connection with reduction of income tax rates.

Collector Goodcell said that under any legislation that might be enacted, returns for 1923 income must be filed at the present rates and in exactly the same manner as they were filed last year.

In the event Congress finally decides on a reduction to apply on 1923 income, taxpayers who pay their entire tax before March 15 would be rebated the amount of the reduction, while in the case of the taxpayer who pays one-fourth of his tax by March 15 the reduction would apply against his future quarterly payments, Collector Goodcell explained.

"In other words, file your return for 1923 income exactly as you did last year," Collector Goodcell continued. "If any reductions are made later on by Congress ample provision will be made for rebating the amount of the reduction, but under all circumstances, any legislation that may be enacted will not affect the filing of returns for 1923. File today and avoid the rush."

HOLY BAPTISM IS KRINGLE'S THEME

Christ's Last Commission to Disciples Explained By Minister

The members of the Zion Lutheran congregation listened to a masterful address yesterday morning by Rev. Henry O. Kringle on "Holy Baptism."

"In Matthew 28, verses 19 and 20, we read," said Rev. Kringle, "of the last great commission of our Lord Jesus Christ to his disciples. He was about to ascend into heaven; his disciples were to go out into the world to wage war against the formidable kingdom of Satan, to destroy its bulwarks, and upon its ruins to plant the cross, the emblem of the crucified One. What a task!

"But Jesus, their king, consoles and strengthens them. 'Ye ambassadors of mine, fear not. Though you will no longer enjoy my visible presence, invisibly I shall be with you, guide you, protect you in the performance of your calling. I am the king of heaven and earth; I possess all power. Go ye, therefore, to your task undaunted. Disciple the nations, build my church. I shall assist you. Disciple the nations, baptizing and teaching them.

"This his devoted disciples did, and the work is being carried on today, and will be carried on until the last day, when the heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll; and the earth shall vanish like smoke, the holy Christian church, comprising all believers in Christ, will be complete.

Teach the Nations

"The central thought of Christ's great commission is: 'Disciple the nations.' How is it to be done? How are disciples, believers in Christ, made? The Lord says there are two means: by baptizing them and by teaching them. 'It is Christ who saves us. What he has gained for all he offers to all in the gospel. And what he thus offers to all he grants to the individual in baptism. The infant is regenerated by baptism, the adult believer's faith is wonderfully strengthened by baptism, since it is the personal application of the gospel, assurance of the forgiveness of sins, through faith in Christ Jesus.

"What an abundance of grace God bestows upon us to counteract the sting of sin. The gospel assures us of pardon; the Lord's supper assures us of pardon; the baptism in the name of the triune God in our infancy or adult years assures us of pardon. In hours of affliction when our conscience would condemn us, let us flee to these fountains of God's grace and become refreshed. When Satan accuses us of having departed from the Lord, let us also look back to our baptismal covenant, knowing that our merciful God says: 'The mountains shall depart, and the hills be removed; but my kindness shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace be removed, saith the Lord that hath mercy upon thee.'"

Record Number File Returns in January

All records of the Southern California Internal Revenue District were thrown into the discard by the number of income tax returns filed during January, the first month of the 1924 filing period.

Ten times as many returns had been filed up to February 1, 1924, as had been reported up to March 1, of 1922. This sets a new record for southern California and indicates that approximately 270,000 personal returns will be filed.

With only thirty-four days of the filing period left, Collector Goodcell said yesterday that an average daily filing of 7,000 returns would have to be maintained in order to complete the filing. Sixty deputy collectors will open branch offices throughout the district on Monday and all available deputies have been assigned to income tax work in the local office.

FAITH NEEDED TO SECURE HEALING

Occult Science Pastor Tells Essential Demands in Aiding Others

Taking his text from the Aquarian gospel, chapter 130, 17-21, Rev. Arthur Moore of the Occult Science of Christ church, 113 South Orange street, delivered a sermon on "The Successful Healer" Sunday evening.

Rev. Moore laid particular emphasis upon the necessity and importance of the patient's having the utmost faith in the power whose aid is being invoked by the healer. Rev. Moore stated in part:

"The demonstration of healing has had its place in the life of man throughout the past ages. It has been found in every civilization that man has built, serving as a source of genuine usefulness in time of difficulty and hardship as well as in times of prosperity and growth. It is enough for us to know that the one requisite, the one indispensable requisite for divine healing, both in the healer and in the patient, is faith and trust in that Divine and immutable power by whose aid, both in the past and at the present, all genuine and permanent cures have been accomplished. The one who is to administer, the healer, must have faith in the results to be expected. The receiver, or the patient, who has confidence in the one in attendance receives a benefit in proportion to the extent of his faith in him, and also in the power manifesting through him.

Supreme Power

"Above all, we find that all people, in whatever stage of development in the higher things of life, acknowledged a supreme power, a being whose scope of manifestation and whose attributes are infinitely above and beyond those of man. To the aboriginal man this power speaks through stone, plant, wind and rain; in fact, through all that he sees and knows.

"This element of truth is one that the modern student may well recognize, namely, that the one immutable power that we know as God is manifest in everything that is, sentient and insentient. The more advanced minds in their search for the proper way to link up, so to speak, with this power, though having different names for their methods, are all accepting in fact this same truth. Therefore, the successful healer through study and meditation knows that his body is the temple in which there dwells a divine being, which, in fact, is none other than Himself."

In the concluding words of his sermon Rev. Moore said: "Those thoughts and ideals that one holds in his mind for the greatest length of time have a very great and considerable effect upon the condition of his body. This same principle applies to assisting another, and a noble and constructive thought or ideal placed in the mind of another will grow into a real and constructive power in his life."

In memory of Christopher Columbus a massive lighthouse will be erected at Santo Domingo at once.

Four Firemen Tender Resignation to Chief

Four members of the Glendale fire department, headed by Captain E. C. Fairfield, of Engine Company No. 4 on Glorietta avenue, Verdugo Woodlands, handed in their resignations Saturday afternoon. The three other firemen were C. J. Cartnell, F. B. Wilson and Roy E. Nagle.

All resignations were accepted by Chief A. H. Lankford. As yet no one has been appointed captain to fill the vacancy. Captain Fairfield has been a member of the department since 1918, coming onto the force when Tropico was annexed.

Casa Verdugo Church Forms King Heralds

A band of King's Heralds, junior auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary society, was organized Sunday afternoon at the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. The members are the young people of ages ranging from 8 to 14 years. Officers elected were: Rita Schrader, president; Grace Martin, vice-president; Martha Jones, secretary; Lorraine Masters, treasurer. Sixteen members were enrolled. Miss Luella Wright is superintendent and Miss Adele Drake, assistant.

SCIOT NEOPHYTES PARADE STREETS

Initiation of 218 Candidates Puts Glendale Pyramid Into Front Rank

The Sciots' parade Saturday night, 1000 strong, led by the crack band of the local Pyramid, No. 39, turned out to be a veritable caravan of fun and caused Glendalians to pause along Brand boulevard and survey in amazement the fantastic column that shortly before 8 o'clock swung south from California avenue to Harvard street and back north on the other side of the street.

In that line were 218 candidates for initiation, each wearing a tall hat with "raw meat" vividly displayed thereon. Six of the "victims" carried a symbolic coffin and the band appropriately rendered a funeral dirge. Other embryo Sciots were wheeled by in baby carriages while wheelbarrows and other vehicles of lowly order served to contribute to this moving "Comedy of Errors." One group of candidates even came along inside a big cage, drawn by other neophytes.

All in all, it was a big night. "And," says Toparch H. M. Bennett of the local Pyramid, "those 218 new Sciots swelled our membership to over 600, putting us on a par in the Supreme Pyramid with Los Angeles, San Francisco and other large California cities."

Veteran Mason Joins

A feature of the installation was that Ralph Wolff, an octogenarian, father of Charles J. Wolff, master of Glendale lodge, No. 544, F. & A. M., was among those initiated into Pyramid No. 39 on Saturday night, a man for fifty-three years a Mason, the oldest Sciot in the state.

Among those who were on the program at the big installation exercises were A. Y. Tully, deputy Pharaoh of the Supreme Pyramid; Jack Weise and John de Moulin, also of the Supreme Pyramid, and Ralph Logston, San Bernardino toparch.

The latter invited the Glendale Pyramid of Sciots to be present in a body in San Bernardino at the Orange Show on February 23, which is "Sciots' day," stating that special P. E. cars would be provided. Toparch Bennett accepted the invitation for the local Pyramid.

Community Service Books M. E. Quartet

The Methodist quartet will furnish music at the Community Service program Thursday night, February 7, at the old Glendale Union High school, sponsored by the local Rotary club, it is announced by Daniel Kelty, Jr., of the committee in charge of arrangements.

The quartet numbers Paul and Frank Butterfield, Dr. Ray Lusby and Dr. P. O. Lucas. The Rotarian committee on arrangements comprises Daniel Kelty, Jr., Ruie Downing, William A. Howe, Edward Jones and R. E. Olin.

Grand View Fathers Will Form Auxiliary

Fathers of Grand View school children are called to a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the kindergarten room of the school to participate in the formation of a fathers' auxiliary of the school Parent-Teacher association. Guy W. Finner is temporary chairman of the fathers' organization.

The P.-T. A. reports that $85 was realized from the Scotch concert and candy sale held last Friday night at the old high school.

By Gil A. Cowan

Woodrow Wilson, war-time president, is passed beyond this world of earthly joy and grief. Famed as a scholar, author and political factor, he loomed into the national horizon in 1912, and for two terms served this nation through a most critical period.

His death was not unexpected, coming as it did on Sunday morning, when all peoples were at peace—as much so as ever. And it was peace for which the past president gave his best, only to find the world was not ready to accept altruism in place of materialism.

As a thinker Woodrow Wilson, perhaps, was a more outstanding figure than any politically prominent person in the United States at the time of his prime. Certainly, he was greater in thought than in political ability; his logic gained admiration of world renown and his good work will live in the minds of men.

A nation, perhaps a little thankless, today mourns the loss of one of its great men who gave his all in return for fleeting honor.

A woman reader writes she is not in favor of christening Mount Verdugo anything else but—

In other words she is sold to the word Verdugo, the meaning of which she likely does not know.

"It would break poor John McGroarty's heart," she said in the communication—and why should we emulate Hollywood by naming the peak of the Beaudry mountains "Mount Glendale?"

Altogether, it would seem that she does not like the idea—and we are not positively sold on it, either. We wanted to get an expression of opinion.

If a person will note the maps they will find "Beaudry mountains" where the "Verdugo Hills" should be. We favor their being known as the Verdugo hills, if it will please Mr. McGroarty, or his yellow cat, or our readers, or anyone.

And if the peak at the head of Brand boulevard is to be known as Mount Verdugo, or Mount Glendale, or Mount Avalanche, or anything else, let it be so named and established on the maps. No need of having names which are not recognized.

What do you think about it?

Judge Harlan Palmer of the Hollywood Citizen took his trusty typewriter in hand the other day and punched out the following editorial in which all likely concur. It is entitled "Government Not a Political Party" and it reads as follows:

"Everyone is searching for the partisanship which might be involved in the investigation of the government oil land leasing scandals.

"As a good citizen what do you care about the partisanship that is involved?

"Do you care more for partisanship than you do for honest government?

Does it hurt you more to see your party condemned than it does to see corruption take hold of your government?

"Isn't the real important thing in the whole governmental scandal not whether the wrongs were committed by Republicans, not whether the revelations are being made by Democrats, but whether or not we are going to have a government of honor or one of dishonor?

"If there is any justification for our present partisanship, it is only that such partisanship might be the means to a desired end.

"The desired end for all of us should be a government conducted along honorable lines in the interests of the great majority and with a spirit of justice for all.

"If partisanship doesn't contribute to that end, it is time for our interest in partisanship to cease.

"The political crook cares not for political labels.

"Why should the good citizen fighting the political crook care more?"

The Santa Barbara News editor also gave us something to think about and clip out of his paper when he wrote of "Taxes and Officeholders" as follows:

"At a recent meeting of the New Jersey Real Estate league, Williard S. Herron, secretary of the National Real Estate association said that school, municipal, state and Federal taxation takes one sixth of our national income and added the astonishing statement that one person in every twelve is on the public payroll. He said:

" 'We work all day Monday to pay our taxes for the week, and with every twelfth person in government service one-twelfth of the population is living on the production of the other eleven-twelfths. Combined taxes are now 14 1-3 cents on every dollar, and one-fifth of the national wealth escapes taxation entirely. It is evident that realtors' associations, representing property owners, as they do, must take an active part in solving this great problem.'

"Presumably this official of a great national association spoke advisedly in making these statements although necessarily they were based on estimates rather than actual figures.

"Under our system of government we have built up a constantly growing army of public servants who are busy 'running the machine.'

"A considerable proportion have few real duties. Others are hard worked. Usually the heavy work is done by the men who receive small pay while the chair-warmers receive the large salaries.

"With one-fifth of the national wealth untaxed and one-twelfth of the people engaged in purely official duties, is it any wonder that the expenses of the average man grow?

"The worst of it is that there seems little hope for any great improvement in the situation. Here and there over the country there is an honest attempt to reduce the burdens on the taxpayers but as a whole the army of office holders is growing and the cost of their maintenance shows no sign of declining.

"It behooves the American tax payer to pay more attention to his public business and see to it that he secures a fair proportion of his money's worth in return for his taxes."

Glendale needs a little more speed in the February building to make another million dollar mark. Get busy, you boosters, and give it a shove.

YOUNG FOLKS IN CHURCH PROGRAM

Christian Endeavor Members Celebrate Birthday of Organization

Sunday service at the Tropico Presbyterian church, corner of Laurel and Central avenue, was marked by the participation of the young people of the church in the day's program, and plans were announced which will further employ the young people in active church work.

The forty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the Christian Endeavor society was celebrated last night, the Tropico Presbyterian society, of which Frances Goldsborough is president, having charge of the evening service, and a program of music and addresses was given.

On Tuesday night a supper will be served at the social hall of the church to the boys of 11 to 15 years of age, and their fathers, with the idea of organizing the Pioneer club, a Y. M. C. A. activity for boys.

Rev. Harold Shafer, assistant pastor of the church, is directing the movement, and Dr. Winnard, the pastor, hopes that all fathers having boys of the above age will take an interest in this movement. The Ladies' Aid society of the church will serve the supper.

REV. EDMONDS IN WILSON TRIBUTE

Congregation Stands While Organist Plays Solemn Music of Hymn

As a prelude to the regular meeting of the Presbyterian church held in the Glendale Theatre Sunday morning, Rev. W. E. Edmonds paid a glowing tribute to Woodrow Wilson, ex-president. "He is a worthy successor to Abraham Lincoln," said Rev. Edmonds, "and the world has suffered a distinct loss. He was the greatest of Christian statesmen."

The congregation stood for a moment in silent thought while Paul Carson played on the organ, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

"Jesus and Company"

The sermon topic was "Jesus and Company," set forth under three heads: "First, Our Lord's Provision; second, Our Lord's Prevision; third, The climax, Partnership with Our Lord. When Peter was called upon to pay the temple tax he laid the case before Christ, who sent him to catch a fish in whose mouth the shekel was found with which to pay the tax. Christ is ever performing miracles for the good of mankind. He is able to supply all need. There is nothing too hard for the Lord. All things are possible to him that believeth: The life of confidence and earnest expectation is made possible only through a life of faith and obedience. It is not how reasonable the call of God may be, but what saith the Lord. The Lord will provide.

Christ's Sacrifice

"Prevision is looking ahead with confidence in Him who has cared for His children in the past and through faith we know that all things work together for good to those who love God. This was true in the life of Adam and Eve, also the givinig of the law on Mt. Sinai. Man could not keep the law, but the law was fulfilled through the sacrifice of Christ on the cross and through faith in the finished work of Christ we become new creatures, heirs of God, and joint heirs with Jesus Christ.

"Partnership. 'All things are yours and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's. Our debt of sin is paid by Him. Our course is His. Our sin is born by Him. All this and more in order that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him. We are sons of God only through faith in a risen and exalted Saviour.

ROTARY PROGRAM FULL OF VARIETY

Kiwanis and Exchange Clubs Invited to Share in Entertainment

Variety of entertainment is offered by the Glendale Rotary club in its program for Community Service—which means everybody's invited—next Thursday night at the old Glendale Union High school auditorium. The program will begin at 8 o'clock, the Rotarians being assisted by many volunteers, in making this a stellar event.

Both the Kiwanis and Exchange clubs hvae been extended an invitation to join the Rotarians in entertaining the people of Glendale, according to Dan Kelty, who is arranging the details as chairman of the public affairs committee.

Among the featured numbers will be selections by the orchestra from the First Baptist church. George Karr will act as interlocutor, announcing the program from the stage. Rotarian Alexander Stewart of Los Angeles, will lead community singing.

List of Performers

Keamoku A. Lewis will give several Hawaiian selections. Albert Bryant, the boy tenor, will sing. Bill Bode will play the saxaphone. Harry Webb will do a "golf sketch," it is reported.

Ole Andresen, well known soloist, and a church quartet composed of C. Comfort, J. B. Clark, Clifford Riggs and Myron Carmen will render several selections. Mrs. G. Champlain Erb will be the accompanist. The Rotary chorus will sing three selections, appearing in uniform attire.

Val Hollister will act as scenic artist, according to Mr. Kelty, and every member of the Rotary club is invited to bring a family of newcomers to the get-acquainted meeting.

Close Registration for Occidental Students

Saturday was the last day for old students to register for the second semester at Occidental College. New students were given the opportunity to enroll on Friday and Saturday. For the last four weeks the members of the student body have had the opportunity of making out their courses. The new term started at 8:30 o'clock today, Monday morning, February 4.

Practically all the old students are returning and many of the graduates of the prep schools have made application for admission to Occidental. Dean Thomas G. Burt, who is handling the registration, believes that the attendance will equal that of the first semester.

L. A.-N. Y. HIKER HERE

Charles Greenleaf, who left Los Angeles a year ago on a "hike" to New York, has returned to the southland, and yesterday was a visitor to Glendale having walked over from the city. He stated he wore out twelve pair of shoes, and had all sorts of experiences on his trip.

New Year Greeting From Damascus, World's Oldest City, Is Kirk's Message

"Happy New Year from the oldest city of the world!" is the greeting today to Glendalians from W. B. Kirk in a letter written January 4 in Damascus, Syria. He writes:

W. B. KIRK

"Happy New Year from the oldest city in the world and from the extreme eastern point on our journey, which we have reached at one and the same time. Henceforth we will be trekking toward home and the greatest and best country under the sun. None of us are homesick, in any sense, but contact with other countries and peoples makes us realize that ours is the favored heritage, and brings home to us the immeasurable blessings which we, as a nation, enjoy.

"I have suggested to my folks that we return eastward, via India, as we could go down to Port Said and easily catch a boat that way, which would tke us home as quickly, and about as economically, as to return west, but they insist that they want to see Constantinople, Athens and the Riviera on this trip, so that's the way we go.

"On our last Sunday in Jerusalem, after attending service at the 'American church,' which is an alliance of protestants, and which has an able, good minister, we drove down again to Gethsemane, which we had visited only hurriedly, and communed awhile under the ancient olive trees, and returning stopped and went into Solomon's quarries, a place which is well known especially to all Masons.

"Entering a cavity beneath the old wall, we went into this huge cave, which extends for a long distance under the city, as far as the Via Dolorsa. With candles we walked to its end. It is here that King Solomon obtained the stone for his temple, so it is said.

Leave Jerusalem

"About 7:30 Monday morning we bade goodbye to Jerusalem and in our same machine started north for Galilee. The journey was historic and very interesting all the way. The road was good and we sped along, passing Mt. Scopus, then some ancient towns of Old Testament history, Nob, Gibeah, Ramah, Beeroth, Jeshanah, Lebonah, to Jacob's well.

"Here we stopped and had a visit to the (undoubtedly authentic) old well, where Jesus had that wonderful conversation with the woman of Samaria, who had gone there to draw water. No more striking incident in the life of Christ is recorded, so this place was of unusual interest to us. Surrounded by a high stone wall the well is in the basement of a church of the Greek Catholics, surrounded by all the hanging lamps, pictures, braziers and adornments of that religion and guareded by an old monk, who was very courteous and pleasant.

"The well is bored in the solid rock and, contrary to statements I have seen, it is only two or three feet in diameter. There is a queer little iron windlass above by which the old man let down a little bucket and drew up some water for us, afterward letting down some candles on a board so we could see the depth and the water at the bottom. The well is over 100 feet to the water, and the latter is about thirty feet deep.

"Ancient Shechen, now Nablus, is near here and is one of the larger cities of Palestine. It has some irrigation, date palms, bananas and other evidences of intensive agriculture, being in evidence about the town. Olive trees cover the hillsides in many places, and are the one growth we saw in all parts of the country. The recent rains have started the grass on the hills and the large herds of sheep and goats now have some sustenance. They must have a hard time of it during the dry season.

"The ancient caravans of camels and donkeys we met are exactly as you see them in pictures, both animals and drivers being adorned exactly as they were 4000 years ago I guess.

Room for Irrigation

"Passing a fertile district with several Arab villages and the plain of Dothan we went through another Bible town mentioned by Joshua, En Gannim, now called Jenin. Leaving there we reached the plain of Esdraelon which is the largest level section in Palestine outside the Jordan valley. It is four or five miles wide in places and several miles long, nearly perfectly level and, with irrigation, could be made a wonderful section. As it is it seems to be only partially cultivated at all. There is more cultivation in Galilee than in the hilly, rocky section of Judea and Benjamin.

"We passed Mts. Gilboa and Tabor and had a distant view of Mt. Carmel and the Mediterranean from one of the heights on our way into Nazareth. We reached that old town of so much interest because it was the home of Christ during his boyhood, and up to the time he was baptized.

"Going at once to the 'Church of the Annunciation' we were welcomed by the monk in charge, Father Leon, a Franciscan, who insisted on taking us into a reception room with easy chairs and making us rest awhile. He ordered a servant to serve us some splendid coffee, which surely did hit the spot. We found Father Leon a charming Englishman and we enjoyed our visit with him very much.

"He then showed us the new church, which is being built over

BIG TOWN STUFF NOW FOUND HERE

Traffic, Trade, Entertainment and Restaurants Give Glendale Thrill

By GIL A. COWAN
Of The Evening News Staff.

So this is Glendale! A young man who had been away from the city might make such a remark after ten years. For it is not the same country town of yesterday—not if you can believe your eyes.

It wasn't so many years ago that people protested the improving of streets because it would bring traffic and noise. Verily, the actors and others who sought solitude from the blase life of the "roaring town" came to Glendale to reside.

Now all is changed. The traffic here any day is comparable to many middle western cities twice the size. Indeed, one person informs me that Glendale has as many motor cars on its main streets as Paris. And any night one has to drive for blocks to find parking space while the residents turn out to the theatres.

Crowds Jam Streets

Last night, for instance, Sunday evening crowds downtown, window shoppers, church-goers and others made the streets almost impassable without the traffic policemen. Yet six years ago the chances are that a cannonball could have caromed back and forth through town and never hit a thing!

Today the steady stream of shoppers in the stores indicate also that this city has become a great commercial center, at least from a retail standpoint. Shops here are as good, and usually better, than those found downtown. Prices, too, defy competition.

Trade at Home

The people believe in TRADING IN GLENDALE. That was not so true five or more years ago. Also they find today the best of entertainment. The restaurants are a great attraction in the evenings. Indeed, there is no reason why a person cannot find everything, anything, here.

But should there be some line not represented, tell about it. In a few weeks' time you will have spread the good word to someone who has the inclination and courage to establish the business here.

For this is Glendale! And in a few short years it has become a regular town, we'll say.

DEBATING TEAMS TO OPEN SEASON

Occidental Orators to Meet U. S. C. and Whittier in Contest Thursday

The men's debating teams of Occidental College will open the forensic season with two debates scheduled for Thursday night, February 7. The Oxy tongue fighters will meet the University of Southern California and the Whittier College teams. This year the debating teams consist of two men on a side, and there are no triangular contests.

The question in all the debates staged under the Southern California Public Speaking League this season is, "Resolved, that Congress should be given power to re-enact legislation declared unconstitutional by the supreme court."

The big debate for Oxy is with the U. S. C. silver tongued orators. The Trojan speakers have brought many honors to their camps and are considered dangerous opponents. The Tiger warriors who will represent Oxy against U. S. C. are Francis Henshaw and Edward Jones, both capable of firing a volley of arguments at the other side which cannot be broken down.

Strong Combination

Henshaw and Jones have had wide experience in debating and are undoubtedly the best combination that could be sent against the strong Trojans. Henshaw is a former Pasadena high orator and debater, winning the Southern California oratorical contest during his last year. He showed his ability at the first of the year when he represented Occidental in the extemporaneous contest. Henshaw won second place and the U. S. C. representative was last. Jones is a hard worker and has been on the Tiger varsity team for two years, and before that he was on the frosh squad. Jones is the strongest member of the squad. Besides debating, he is forensic manager.

Real Log Cabin Nestles Amid Beauties of Hills On Sycamore Canyon Rim

By ELEANOR R. BLACKBURN
Written for The Evening News

Shades of Miles Standish! Is it a bit of Plymouth colony with Priscilla's cabin at the edge of the ravine with sheltering trees to protect it from the icy blasts of a New England winter?

One expects almost anything in California. The exile, willing or otherwise, thinks fondly of "home," be it "ever so humble" or be it reared with stately halls, and the style of architecture is apt to be as varied as the places from which the builders came.

Here the steep roof and diamond pane windows might belong to the cottage along some English lane. The white stucco with the purple bougainvillea running riotously to the eaves brings to mind sunny Italy or across the blue Mediterranean to the shores of barbaric Africa, where the white walls gleam in the "Garden of Allah."

The stone house of the hills might be the little stone house above the Scottish moor, only that the mist that is almost a rain, is lacking in sunny California.

Lures to Pilgrimage

With eyes turned admiringly on the picturesque homes on the slopes of the southern hills of the city, a determination not only to view them at close range but to see what they saw from their heights, was the incentive for a pilgrimage a few Sundays ago.

But the heights were never explored, the sublime view was never "viewed" for there on the brink of the ravine, where in times of torrential rains the floods come down Sycamore canyon on their way to the sea, there confronted one a cabin, a real log cabin, made of real logs! And trespass or no trespass it must be seen at closer range.

And then just as the hands delightedly caressed the clean freshly sawed logs, Priscilla,—a modern Priscilla, with soft brown hair and a very modern blouse and a fetching little apron came around the corner and the mystery was solved and the why and wherefore of the cabin was revealed.

Of course the log cabin, like everything else in California had been in the movies, and Mr. and Mrs. Loren S. Neville of Glendale, when visiting the Ray studio at the time of the dismantling of the sets of that wonderful historic picture "The Courtship of Miles Standish," were enamoured with the picturesque cabins used in the production and immediately recognized their possibilities.

Buy Log Cabin

Negotiations were entered into which resulted in the purchase of one for their Glendale home. The cabin was taken apart and then rebuilded by the same expert who constructed it originally.

The two lots owned by Mr. Neville on East Cypress street lend themselves most admirably to this style of architecture, sloping from the street down the ravine. The cabin is placed at the rear near the trees and a retaining wall of rough stone has been built to turn the encroaching water.

The grounds will be terraced and suitable shrubbery planted. This artistic couple can be trusted not to put a formal garden around the cabin nor a bougainvillea on its rough walls. Pine trees, vines from the woodlands and wood ferns will border the ravine.

Mr. and Mrs. Neville have been residing in Glendale for about three years. Mr. Neville is chief deputy of the Horticultural Commission and finds Glendale a desirable as well as a convenient place to live, while Mrs. Neville, who is a native Californian, is a member of a branch of the Briggs family who were pioneers in this vicinity many years ago, "The Terrace" at La Crescenta being the home of Dr. Briggs, father-in-law of Dr. S. Lawrence Ward, one of the early pastors of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Neville's branch of the family settled near Santa Paula and she was attracted to Glendale by glowing descriptions of the valley by her relatives.

Led by the owner and mistress on this eventful Sunday, an investigating foot was thrust through the aperture intended for the huge fire place in the yet unfinished structure. Entrance secured this way brought one to the living room with walls of rough bark of the logs in the soft grays and red browns. "chinked" with dark red plaster. The ceiling is open to the roofs with its hewn rafters.

Concession to Modernity

Concession to "modernity" is the little sun room to the west, the "eating room" of the family which is reached by passing under the loft or gallery built across the west end of the living room. A steep ladder leads to the loft where, once ensconced on a comfortable couch with "friend book," the world can go by.

Again a concession to the so-called modern improvements is the kitchen with gas range, long sink board and ample cupboard room. The outside door redeems the situation as it is of hewn slabs, three, two of them gray with a rich red pine in the middle, hung on long iron hinges which extend half way across the door.

Adjoining the living room to the north is a sleeping room also of unfinished logs of soft grays and red bark. A four poster bed and ample wardrobes will furnish this and again the modern intrudes with a well appointed bathroom adjoining.

The afternoon was gone, the heights unexplored but the love of the truly good and useful, which is always artistic, was satisfied.

PUBLISH GRADED MUSICAL COURSE

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson's Work Is Adopted by Education Board of State

A graded course of music to be used in piano classes in the public schools, which was compiled last year by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department of the Glendale Union High school, has been adopted as a text by the State Board of Education. It is listed under the heading of the Schrimer Publishing Company as this firm furnished the music which was examined, by the committee at Sacramento. Copies of this list may be secured by teachers from the State office or from Schirmers in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Gibson is writing a text book to be used as a background for sight singing classes, in the public schools. There is no work of this kind in existence, it is stated, and for that reason Mrs. Gibson has been asked to have it published.

Booth Favors Local Man in Manager's Job

Editor of The Evening News:—I am not, or ever was, in favor of the City Manager plan, but I suppose now, according to our City Charter, it has to be; I believe in the old system of government, when the heads of each department supervised their own work, taking their orders from the City Trustees, at their regularly stated meetings through the City Clerk.

Our City Trustees, as the people's representatives administered the laws which are carried out by the various departments, thereby not giving extraordinary power to any one single individual, divide what money might be paid to a manager's position, amongst the heads of the various departments of competent men. When the Charter was first voted upon I was opposed to same, as it cost the city extra money and also created several positions otherwise non-existant and at the polls the Charter created very little public interest as shown by the very small number of votes cast.

However, if we are to have a City [illegible] reference with [illegible] I [illegible] your citizenship [illegible] a position with credit to our city.

Yours truly
FRANK BOOTH,

California Women Filing Returns on Income Over $140,000,000 Says Goodcell

Thousands of women are filing income tax returns in Southern California, and it is estimated that income in excess of $140,000,000 will be reported for taxation by women alone in California as a whole.

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell said today that the 1923 income reported by California women would come within $15,000,000 of the combined personal income of all classes that will be turned in by the states of Arizona, Utah and New Mexico.

More than 10,000 California women will file returns for 1923 as heads of families, by reason of the support in one household of one or more relatives, Collector Goodcell declared. The exemptions allowed the head of a family are $2,500, where the net income was $5,000 or less and $2,000, where the net income exceeded $5,000. Income reported by these women in 1922 amounted to $20,823,294. In addition there were filed 33,395 returns by single women, in which term is included widows, divorcees and women living apart from their husbands. The amount of income reported from this source was $76,292,738.

Conditions Are Told

A woman who was widowed during the year 1923, unless the head of a family or remarried on or before December 31, 1923, may claim only an exemption of $1,000. A wife supporting an invalid husband in a sanitarium is entitled to an exemption of $2,500 or $2,000, according to whether her net income was $5,000 or less or in excess of $5,000. The separation is one of necessity, and she is not considered for income tax purposes to be "living apart" from her husband. If, however, there is continuous voluntary separation between husband and wife, each must take the status of a single person with respect to the income tax.

Any single women whose net income was $1,000 or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more in 1923 must file a return. There can be only one head of a family in a household.

Collector Goodcell stated that for 1921 there were 5,150 women who filed returns separate from their husbands in which $30,292,738 was listed for taxes.

Joint returns filed by husbands and wives, separate returns filed by single men and by men who were heads of families, reported personal income of $1,036,531,518. Of these returns 194,295 were joint reports calling for personal income of $726,731,477.

More single women filed income returns in 1922, in California, than the combined number of similar returns filed in the eleven western states of Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada, Idaho, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota. The number filing in these states was 31,357, as against 33,395 reported in California.

"This survey," said Collector Goodcell, "indicates that the women of California have become a remarkable factor in the production of income taxes. Income of $127,416,212 reported for taxation by the women of a single state means something. 'File your return early' is a slogan that applies especially to women who thus will avoid the congestion occurring in the Revenue office beginning February 15. If you don't want to stand in line, file your return today."

Smash Light Globes On Boulevards, Claim

Editor The Evening News—Your article of recent date regarding the contemptible conduct of certain young people who have been breaking the lights along Canada boulevard, placed the various members of the Improvement association on guard and on Wednesday evening, January 30, one of these vigilantes detected two young men and a girl, occupying a small roadster, in the act of deliberately smashing the last remaining globe at the intersection of Don Carlos avenue, after driving beneath it, on the wrong side of the street at that. He gave chase, as they drove at a sixty-mile gait southward, but as he had a large machine and the hoodlums stopped their machine suddenly, they escaped; but not before the driver was recognized and the number of the machine taken. These facts are in the hands of the police department, which is to take suitable action in the case. The young folks are residents of the valley and should be ashamed of themselves; and they or their parents should be made to pay for all the damage which has been done.

Meantime the association will remain vigilant and all such miserable marauders will be dealt with according to law, as severely as said law permits. In addition they should be soundly spanked.

Yours truly,
H. S. GRAVES,
President Verdugo Woodlands Improvement Association.

Two Girls Joined Together Show's Feature

Coming under the auspices of the American Legion, post No. 127, Glendale, Clarence A. Wortham World's Best Shows arrived yesterday. These are the biggest shows of their kind in the world, and are made up of features like those at Coney Island and Venice Beach, except that many of the Wortham attractions are here for the first time. Especially noticeable among the fifteen attractions they bring are the wonderful twins, Violet and Daisy Hilton, the famous grown-together girls from San Antonio.

Violet and Daisy Hilton are known throughout the civilized world, as they have traveled since they were small children. They are now in their seventeenth year and more interesting than ever. They are well educated and refined young women. They come of two families noted for twin children, but they are the first ever born in those families that were joined together.

This odd union is of flesh and spinal nature and through the strange bond there is arterial circulation. Skoigraphs show that their spinal columns are joined and are in common. The fact that a slight illness of one is evident in the other within twenty-four hours proves there is arterial circulation. Yet one is not sensitive to pain if the other sticks her finger with a needle or sustains a bruise.

As far as one knows, they never had an argument. That they are of one body is evidenced by the fact that one may be asleep while the other is wide awake. One may read while the other is writing, and likewise, simultaneously, they may be doing things strongly in contrast with each other.

This is the first trip of the Clarence A. Wortham shows to this section of the country for three years. They are on the way to the National Orange Show at San Bernardino, and thence will go east to play the big fairs in the Mississippi valley and lake sections the coming summer. The Wortham shows have fifteen attractions and eight rides. They will be open afternoon and night, starting their engagement this afternoon at Brand boulevard and San Fernando road.

Wortham's World's Best Shows Arrive in Glendale and Prepare for Nine Days' Display; Attractions Are Varied

Yesterday Clarence A. Wortham's World's Best shows rolled into Glendale and at once began to unload the huge caravans carrying the big traveling amusement city to Brand boulevard and San Fernando road. The picture gives a fair idea of the magnitude of the organization. In the foreground are seven expert showmen, trained to a nicety in the art of unloading a circus train.

The slightest wrong turn of a wheel when one of the six or seven-ton wagons is being shunted from the cars might mean serious injury to the operators and more damage to property. One may judge of the magnitude of the Wortham shows when a glance is given the long string of cars extending into the distance. Another string, not shown in the picture, was being unloaded the reverse way, and hence was behind the camera.

The Wortham shows are in California for the first time in three years. In the last, as well as other trips, they established themselves firmly as a dependable organization. This year they have added laurels to that crown. They bring fifteen shows and six riders. The feature of the riding devices are the caterpillar and the butterfly, this being the first time these rides were ever transported across the country by train. They will be here nine days, starting today.

WHITE SOX NOSE OUT UNION TOOL

Locals Hang Up Five Runs In First Inning of Game at Torrance

The Sox amassed enough runs in the first inning of the game at Torrance against Union Tool yesterday to take the afternoon's pastime, and it was very lucky that they did, for after that they were unable to do anything with Haycox's offerings, scoring only one more run, in the seventh. The Toolmakers came back strong in the second, sending four across the rubber, but as they only scored one more, in the fifth, off Arnold Crandall, the Sox emerged one run to the good.

Doran, Sawyer, Stradley, Slade and Simon came through in the opener with hits which proved the undoing of Haycox. Each twirler allowed but eight hits.

Yankee Ski Jumpers Lose In Competition

The relative position of the teams in the Triple A league remains unchanged as all the four league leaders were credited with a win yesterday. Glendale nosed out Union Tool 5-4, and San Pedro beat Palms-Culver City 7-3 at the latter's ball yard. Sawtelle and Shell Oil, league leaders, were credited with a win each through the default of Anaheim and Wilmington.

In their independent games Sawtelle beat Universal City 4-3 in ten innings and the Dutchmen took the St. Louis Giants into camp by the score of 7-4.

The White Sox still have a chance to get in the money as they have two games to play with San Pedro and one with Sawtelle.

Joie Ray Gets Chance to Turn the Tables

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Joie Ray, the Illinois star, and H. Lloyd Hahn, the Boston Athletic Association runner, have been matched to clash in a 1,500-meter race at the games of the Samaclar Athletic Association, in the One Hundred and Second Engineers' Armory on Wednesday evening, February 12.

Ray met defeat at the hands of the Boston boy at the Silk Athletic Association games, and he requested the Samaclar games committee to card a 1500-meter race, so that he could again meet Hahn. The latter accepted the challenge. The race should prove one of the best of the present indoor season. Ray is training to compete in the 1500-meter event at the Olympic championships.

Winter squash teams are now holding annual tournament. Summer squashed teams will get under way around April 15 in Boston and Philadelphia.

Local Caseys Easily Beat Legion Squad

The expected close game between Post No. 8 of Los Angeles and the K. C.'s, at the San Fernando yard yesterday afternoon, did not materialize, as the locals literally swamped the visitors by the score of 12 to 1.

Heidler, on the mound for the Caseys, allowed but three scattered hits and was accorded sterling support by his team mates. He whiffed seven of the Legionnaires.

Harry Manush, captain of the Caseys, led the attack with the stick with three singles. The visitors were completely outclassed in every branch of the game.

Embryo Olympic Stars Numerous in England

LONDON, Feb. 4.—British athletes all over Britain have gone into training in the hope they will qualify for the Olympic games teams.

A kind of super-nursery has been opened at the White City, the disused pleasure ground on the outskirts of this city, where the budding athletes will be tried and eliminated in an effort to find the best.

They will undergo every conceivable kind of test at the hands of two of Britain's most famous past athletes, and the British Olympic Games Association declars it is hoping that among the many they will find some world beaters.

Leather Pushers to Stage Flashy Bill

There will be great big doings at the San Fernando pavilion again Wednesday night, when the knights of the padded gloves perform for the athletic club. The main event will be a go between Young Farrell and George Rivers. This 115-pound event is looked forward to with much interest, as the principals are adjudged to be evenly matched. Sailor Ackerman and Ed Sinclair, the colored speed demon, are matched at 145 pounds for the semi-windup.

One of the especially exiting events will be the bout between Dynamite Jim Brown and Bud Jewett, at 135 pounds. Young Bello and Jack Gardner will battle at 115 pounds, and John Villaflores and Red Davis will engage at 126 pounds. Kid Ponce and Young Siki will be the 108-pound curtain-raiser.

AUDITORIUM FOR ATHLETIC SHOWS

Charles F. Hahn Plans to Build Gymnasium on West Broadway

The Glendale Athletic club will have a new home in the near future if plans being formulated by Charles F. Hahn for a second story addition to the buildings at 113-119 West Broadway, go through.

The second story will be erected so as to be suitable for athletic events such as wrestling and boxing matches, and general gymnasium work. The structure will have a floor space of 100 by 60 feet, and according to present plans the building will be completed in about 60 days. It is also planned to make it available for exhibitions such as the recent cat show.

"The Glendale Athletic club will use this new building as an asset with which to build a greater club activity," said Pete Essick, matchmaker of the club, this morning. Until recently we conducted regular boxing bouts at Hahn's auditorium on Brand boulevard, and we plan to continue these bouts in other quarters until the new quarters are completed.

"Present plans call for a two day celebration on February 11 and 12, when two fine cards will be presented."

FOUL GOAL RULE BALKS BASKETERS

Mentors Schooling All in Art of Pill Shooting To Better Scores

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 4.—Basketball's new rule, providing that the player fouled must shoot the goal, is raising havoc with scoring machines of Pacific Coast quintets.

Teams with only one or two outstanding basket shooters are feeling the effect of the new ruling. Already this season a number of important games have been lost because of a dearth of goal men.

New coaches are constantly drilling their players in an effort to develop new basket scorers. The mentors realize that a point scored by a goal after a foul may decide many contests.

University of California cagemen started the season with an overwhelming defeat of the Olympic club of San Francisco, but the best the Bears could do was break even in two games with the University of Southern California. These quintets will meet again in Los Angeles on February 19. California will play Stanford at Palo Alto on February 9 and also on February 23. They clash again in Oakland on February 25.

California is weak in two respects. Captain Talt is the only certainty on the blue and gold five when it comes to scoring after a foul. The new goal-shooting rule has hit the Bears hard and Coach Wight is seeking new goal stars. California is extremely weak, too, in substitutes and its reserves are almost a minus quantity.

A cry of rough playing has been raised against the U. S. C. basketball wizards. This may be true but at the same time California did not do any too well against the southerners. The U. S. C. quintet must be figured in the coast race for honors this season. The Trojans have a powerful machine which will be heard from when the finals come along.

With practically the same lineup of last season, with the exception of Hjelte, center, Oregon Aggies cagers have a strong team.

University of Washington players started the season with a string of hoop victories. Captain Frayne is the husky star.

Gonzaga hoopmen frightened Washington state the other night, coming within one point of beating the Cougars.

Shaffer, Oregon university guard, is playing a spectacular game.

YANKEES OUT TO CAPTURE COLLINS

Barrow Ready to Swap 3 New York Players for Chicago's Ace

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Ambushed behind barricaded check books, with fountain pens at present arms, the New York Yankees, it developed today, will make a final and mayhap successful attempt to capture, possess and otherwise become better acquainted with Eddie Collins, of the Chicago White Sox. The attempt will be made at the American league schedule meeting at Boston, tomorrow, and Ed Barrow will be pinch hitting for Miller Huggins, who is catching fish and mosquito rash in Florida.

Barrow, by way of preliminary negotiations, has announced that every man in the Yankee outfit, is scheduled for trade, except Babe Ruth, Aaron Ward, Joe Dugan and Sam Jones.

It is understood that Barrow plans to intrigue Frank Chance with a deal on a "three for two" basis and that the trio of Yankees in question will number a first string pitcher, an outfielder and an infielder. The latter is almost certainly Everett Scott, the iron clad shortstop and it is probable that the other two will be Waite Hoyt and Bob Meusel.

Lawn Tennis Group To Hear Writer's Case

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The National Lawn Tennis association in its annual meeting here Saturday voted 47,196 to 6,250, to consider writing for the press cause for ineligibility after January 1 next.

The vote, which was on an interpretation of the rule defining amateur standing, was aimed primarily at William T. Tilden, the champion, and Vincent Richards. It had been predicted that Tilden would be present prepared to defend his position with warmth, but he did not appear, being in Philadelphia. Richards was present but had nothing to say in the debate on the resolution.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"The Man Life Passed By," a Metro picture, written and directed by Victor Schertzinger, shows at the Glendale theatre tonight, with a splendid cast, including such stars as Jane and Eva Novak, Cullen Landis, Hobart Bosworth and Percy Marmont.

This is a story that leaps out from the general run of film offerings and goes straight to the heart, its breath of fresh imagination intriguing all audiences who see it. Folly and fury, raids and revenge, money and madness catapult to a cyclonic climax. Mr. Schertzinger is the man who directed "Long Live the King," in which Jackie Coogan recently scored such a tremendous success.

Tonight at the Glendale theatre also, as an added attraction, there will be a preview of "What Love Will Do." Those who would like to know should by all means see the picture.

THE GATEWAY

"Flaming Youth," now showing at the Gateway theatre, is a picture that throbs with the gayety of pleasure-mad girls in a sensation-seeking age. The author, said to be one of the most famous in America, dared not sign his name to the book, it is said, so the volume became one of the most popular of the year as an anonymous offering.

Directed by Joseph Francis Dillon and released by First National, with a cast including Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, Sylvia Breamer, Ben Lyon and Myrtle Stedman, "Flaming Youth" offers picture-goers as finely dramatic and entertaining a work of screen art as has been seen this season.

A swimming party "a la silhouette" is one of the most daring sequences of this truly amazing film. Darkness!—then a flash of electric lights!—then screams, splashes, scampering—then darkness again!

YOUR NEIGHBOR IS TRYING IT

While you are mildly wondering if there is anything in Chiropractic, your neighbors are trying it, and getting back their health, too.

You are either getting stronger or weaker. Your pains either get worse and more frequent or better and less frequent. If you are about 50% man (not such an uncommon average) don't deceive yourself into the idea that you can remain just as you are. You are on a slope and your brakes cannot work with your spine out of line.

If you came into this world in a normal manner you arrived head first, which at least suggests that you should go as you started, head first. In other words think your way through life yourself. Don't let others do your thinking or your brain will suffer from desuetude (dry rot).

Heart and Home — Health and Happiness

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

THE FAT CHILD—No. I

Your child is not fat, mother, because you are fat or because his father is fat or someone else in the family is fat. Your child, if he is fat—and healthy—is fat because he eats too much. Just as you are, mother, if you are fat.

Rough language? It's true! And if you are fat there is no doubt that you serve too many fattening foods, and your child, who is a good imitator, likes the same excess of fattening foods that you do because he sees you eating them.

The reduction of overweight in children is practically the same as the reduction of overweight in adults: that is, furnishing the body fewer calories of energy foods than are necessary for the activities, internal and external, and making the excess fat serve to help supply the energy needs.

There are no foods which in certain combinations make fat and in other combinations actually consume fat. This statement you may read in advertisements but there is no truth in it. Any food is fattening or is an irritant if it is more than the system needs.

It is true that some foods are much more fattening than others. The concentrated foods, such as sugar and the fats, are very much more fattening than the watery foods, such as vegetables and fruits. But measured by calories, 100 calories of lettuce (approximately 16 ounces), for instance, is just as fattening as 100 calories of butter (approximately one-half ounce).

One thousand calories of any food is equivalent to one-fourth of a pound of fat. If every day the diet supplies 1000 calories less than the system needs to maintain its internal and external activities—in other words, less than the maintenance diet—theoretically and practically one-fourth of a pound of the body fat will be called upon to supply the needs. Five hundred calories less than the maintenance diet will make the system supply one-eighth of a pound a day. And so you will lose that quarter or eighth pound of weight.

But!—this precaution, especially in the reduction of children! The growth and protein foods must not be included in the 1000 or 500 calories of food that are omitted from the diet to cause this reduction in weight.

Milk must not be omitted because it is needed for complete protein and for its calcium. A child should have at least three glasses of milk every day, and the reducing child is no exception to this rule. A quart of whole milk has 640 calories. If whole milk is taken, then the child can cut down its butter to one-fourth a pat a meal (one-fourth level teaspoonful). If skimmed milk or fat-free buttermilk are used, instead of whole milk—a quart of that has one-half the caloric value of whole milk, or 320 calories—he can have a half pat of butter at a meal.

Fat children are usually excessive bread and butter, candy and dessert eaters. The bread and butter must be limited but not cut out entirely—one slice at a meal is a safe allowance with the butter specified above. It is best to serve bread well toasted throughout, for it will take longer to eat. You must remember, however, that bread toasted has the same food value it has untoasted, so the toast must also be limited. Insist on slow eating and thorough mastication.

Canday, sugar, and sweeet desserts must be very strictly limited, and perhaps prohibited until the child loses his abnormal craving for them. He can have all the water to drink that he wants, and he should have a lot. It is not fattening. Ice cream sodas and ther syrupy drinks must be rare treats instead of the daily dozen.

Two More Precautions:

1. Rapid reductions must be avoided because with a too rapid reduction some of the growth needs would not be supplied. One pound or, at the most, one and one-half pounds a week is a good average loss. As the child grows taller he will be less fat anyway unless he adds to his weight.

2. In case of a severe cold, if you find the cold seems to hang on, it is best to put the child back on his maintenance diet. Be careful that he does not eat enough to gain, however.

BEAUTY CHATS

by Edna Kent Forbes

RED NOSES

Hundreds of young girls write to me every year asking a remedy for a red nose. This trouble may be due to all sorts of things, but in the case of the growing girl it almost always indicates indigestion. Young girls are too apt to indulge themselves with candies and rich soda fountain drinks, and much too apt to eat between meals. Some form of indigestion is bound to arise and it takes the form of congested blood in the nose. The veins of the nose are particularly small, and the circulation at this point is apt to be sluggish. Thick, impure blood cannot circulate as freely as pure, healthy blood, therefore it congests and makes the nose hot, uncomfortable and an ugly red.

The cure, of course, is always to diet, to drink plenty of water, which flushes out the system, particularly to take two glasses of hot water before breakfast. An ointment which has helped a great many people is made as follows:

Powdered sulphur, 1 dram.
Powdered starch, 2½ ounces.
Zinc oxide ointment, 1½ ounces.
Oil of geranium, 3 drops.

This should be rubbed in thoroughly.

Tight corsets, tight shoes, tight sleeves, all tend to cause a red nose by impeding the circulation, but, in nine cases out of ten, it is simply due to rich food or too much food, to iced foods, which chill the stomach, or to food that is insufficiently chewed. If, in spite of diet, the proper use of laxatives and this ointment, the trouble continues, it would be a good thing to see a doctor. Temporary relief can be had in even the most severe case by massaging the nose, by stroking it with the fingers from between the eyes to the tip. Follow this treatment by tapping it all over with the tips of the fingers. This scatters the congested blood and stimulates a healthy, normal circulation.

C. G.—Black Eyes: For bust reduction try the following exercise: Stand erect with hands on hips. Move elbows backward until they meet, if possible. Bring arms in front of chest, and with palms together stretch all the muscles of arms. Raise above the head and stretch; move back and stretch and then slowly forward. Repeat until the muscles of the chest have been fully exercised.

Massage helps temporary or permanent red noses.

Miss Anxious: The enlarged pores will refine gradually if you relieve them by taking a daily full, warm bath. An ice rub, or, if that is not convenient, extremely cold water, dashed ove rthe skin after each bath, will also help to improve such a condition.

Tomorrow: Answered Letters.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

"Cinnamon Buns:—Put into a saucepan one and one-half cups of sweet milk, one-third cup of butter, one-half cup of sugar and a pinch of salt; scald these ingredients together, then cool to the luke-warm stage. Now add one cake of compressed yeast which has been previously dissolved in one-half cup of warm water, two beaten eggs, and flour enough to make a stiff dough. Also add one-half cup of seedless raisins chopped coarsely. Let rise till double in bulk, then turn out on your bread board and roll one-half inch thick; cover with a little melted butter and a mixture of ground cinnamon and sugar (using about one-half cup of this mixture); roll up the dough like a jelly roll, then cut it into one-half inch slices with a sharp knife. Bake in a hot oven for about 30 minutes, and cover with melted sugar when done." (This recipe, together with the three following, were very kindly sent in by a Reader Friend, to help other housewives.)

"Lemon Rice Pudding:—Put into a double boiler three pints of sweet milk, two tablespoons of washed rice, and a saltspoon of salt; cook till the rice is tender, then pour the mixture into a baking dish in which are the beaten yolks of two eggs, the grated rind and juice of one lemon and three tablespoons of sugar (have this dish previous buttered with a piece of butter the size of an English walnut.) Beat the two whites stiff and add enough granulated sugar to sweeten them; use this meringue to spread on top after the pudding has baked for 40 minutes in a moderate oven. Return the dish to a mild oven to brown the meringue.

"Rinktum Diddy:—Put a small piece of butter into either a chafing dish or a double boiler; when melted, add one cup of canned tomatoes and one-fourth teaspoon of baking soda; when simmering add one cup of sweet milk, stir a few minutes, then add one pound of mild cheese cut in small pieces. Season with salt and pepper to suit individual taste, and add five drops of Tobasco Sauce. Stir over mild heat till cheese melts, then add three lightly beaten eggs. When the mixture thickens, serve on either toast or crackers.

"English Monkey:—Soak one cup of bread crumbs in one cup of milk for about 30 minutes. Put one tablespoon of butter into either a chafing dish or a double boiler and when melted add one cup of mild cheese cut small. Stir over mild heat till the cheese melts, then add one beaten egg the soaked bread crumbs, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of Cayenne and about one-fourth teaspoon of soda. Cook for five minutes and serve on toast or crackers."

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

INVESTIGATE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a fellow for almost a year and I love him very dearly, but some one always seems to make trouble for us. People tell my mother that we shouldn't go together and then she gets a fit and scolds. Please give me a bit of advice. HEART-BROKEN.

People could hardly go to your mother and say that the young man is undesirable unless there was some glimmer of truth in it. Do not be obstinate and sacrifice a good reputation merely because the young man facinates you. Unless his character is good he will make you unhappy in the end.

* * *

SHE IS WRONG

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a man for over a year and we are to be married in April. We have gone many places together, either walking or in a car, but we have never been on a street car together until last Sunday. When we got off he stepped in front of me and got off the car first. My girl friend happened to be on the car at the same time and she made a remark about his getting off first. This little thing seems to have turned me against him. Was it wrong of him to get off the car first? Should I tell him about it?

WORRIED DIMPLES.

The young man was right in getting off the car first. He doubtless did so to help you in getting off. It would not have been correct if he had let you get off first. Unless you love him enough to value his good qualities and overlook little mannerisms, you will not be happy after you are married. Without a doubt he will do things which will not seem just right to you, but you must remember that you will also do things which irritate him. It is the goodness of a person's heart that should count and not mere etiquette.

* * *

PARENTS BOSS HIM

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of 21. My folks will not let me keep company with any of my girl friends and I cannot stay out later than ten o'clock. I wish you would give me some advice. I don't want to make a fuss because otherwise they are very good to me. R. G. S.

It is ridiculous that you should not be given more freedom at your age. Simply take the matter into your own hands and do what you believe to be right. Do not ask permission; simply state that you intend to do such and such a thing. Your parents ought to realize that you are no longer a minor and they have no right to dictate to you.

* * *

AN ANSWER

WIFE: Yes, you are really unreasonable. The fact that your husband's former wife continues to write to him in the name of the child means nothing. He would not have married you under the circumstances if love had not been his motive. Be satisfied in the realization that you are the woman of his choice. If you are wise you will give him the freedom in his correspondence with the mother of his children. The more you oppose him, the more apt he is to take an interest in her.

Ask your husband not to read the letters from his mother to you since they only hurt you. If you curb your jealously and do all you can to be a good and sympathetic wife, I am sure your mother-in-law will soften toward you and in time will only be too glad to recognize you as her son's wife.

Dinner Stories

There was no doubt that the telephone was out of order. There wasn't any screeching, buzzing, sound issuing from the receiver. An employee of the company was sent to make repairs. After a period of labor he suggested to Mr. Jones that he call up some one to make sure the instrument was in order. Mr. Jones obligingly called his home in the suburbs. When the connection was made he called into the receiver:

"Sally!" and after a pause, "Sally!" and again "Sally!" An electric storm that had been gathering broke at this moment. A bolt of lightning hit the telephone wires. Mr. Jones was hurled violently from his seat. He crawled forth, presently, and regarded the telephone man plaintively:

"That's her," he concluded. "The telephone works fine."

An elderly man of ultra-convivial habits, but withal learned and bookish, was haled before the bar of justice in a country town, relates an exchange.

"Ye're charged with bein' drunk and disorderly," snapt the magistrate. "Have ye anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced?"

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," began the prisoner in a flight of oratory. "I am not so debased as Poe, so profligate as Byron, so ungrateful as Keats, so intemperate as Burns, so timid as Tennyson, so vulgar as Shakespear, so—"

"That'll do, that'll do," interrupted the magistrate. "Ninety days. And, officer, take down that list of names he mentioned and round 'em up. I think they're as bad as he is."

The late Andrew Carnegie, at one of his dinners in New York, talked about the prodigal and ostentatious expenditure of a certain type of millionaire.

"He takes a Velasquez," said the ironmaster, "and cuts it into three strips so that it will go on a screen. Paul Bourget told the world about that. And I heard the other day another thing about him. A gentleman was being shown over the $3,000,000 palace of one of these millionaires. The visitor stopped before an enormous mirror and exclaimed: 'What a large and perfect glass! Pity's it's scratched.' 'It is rather a pity,' agreed the millionaire, and, turning to his butler, he said: 'Don't let the children have any more diamonds to play with, Maurice!' "

It looks as though peace is about to break out in Europe again.

The difference between luxuries and necessities these days is that, if we try hard enough, we can get along without the necessities.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Those people who think that the halls of Congress are stately pillared chambers wherein solemn-visaged men stalk about in frock coats and discourse learnedly and politely about the great issues of the hour should drop into the rollicking House of Representatives one of these February afternoons—say, about the time the daily exchange of pleasantries takes place between the distinguished members.

There aren't many town halls in the sagebursh and backwoods sections that have anything on the great House of Representatives once it gets going good on some controversial topic. Prohibition is a favorite subject. When it is engaging the attention of the legislators no holds are barred, parliamentary rules of procedure fly up through the dome of the Capitol, and the ordinary amenities of parliamentary discourse sneak out through the cellar door.

The favorite gladiators who entertain the House on the subject of prohibition are Representative William D. Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, and Representative John Philip Hill, Republican, of Maryland. Wives of members usually ascertain whether Hill and Upshaw are going to "do their stuff" in the House each afternoon before buying tickets to the local matinees.

Mr. Hill is very, very wet. Mr. Upshaw is very, very dry. Both make numerous speeches on their favorite topics elsewhere than in Washington.

Some time ago Mr. Hill made a speech in Buffalo in which he spoke his contempt for the Volstead act and all its relations.

Whereupon Mr. Upshaw seizes the first opportunity to take a fall out of Mr. Hill on the floor. The passages quoted are from the Congressional Record:

"The gentleman from Maryland,' politely remarked Mr. Upshaw, "has barked one time too many, whatever end it comes from.

"Everybody knows he is still smarting under the charge I made against him a year ago, when he sought to have me called before the Congress, for some members had been drinking the devilish stuff the sale of which he champions every day.

"He is now resting under the fadeless name of being the self-appointed wet nurse of this legislative body."

Then a lapse into poetry:

"Alas and alack! John Philip sees red—
The word prohibition has gone to his head."

Then it becomes Hill's turn:

"Mr. Upshaw is such a great and devout believer in the Constitution; why does he not see to it that the Constitution is enforced in his own state? I have reference to the Fourteenth Amendment, guaranteeing the right of suffrage to all men, whether white or black."

Thousands of words fill pages in the Record on the right of Representative Upshaw to hold his seat, in view of Mr. Hill's contention that suffrage is denied half of Mr. Upshaw's constituents.

The speaker interrupts with the observation that the time of the gentleman from Maryland has expired, whereupon Mr. Hill asks for a little more time.

"I need only a quarter of a minute,' says Mr. Hill.

Voice in the rear, identified as that of Representative John Langley (D.) of Kentucky:

"Did the gentleman say he wanted a quart for a minute or a quarter of a minute?"

Shouts of laughter.

Mr. Upshaw gets the floor again and in the midst of his remarks an innocent page boy hands him a pledge card to sign. The pledge is that he shall never taste liquor. He signs it.

"Mr. Hill makes me think;" continues Mr. Upshaw, "of the ride we had on the bosom of Lake Geneva last summer, when we suddenly became aware of the fact we were not riding on Lake Geneva but on Lake Leman"—

"What kind of hooch did you have?" interrupts Mr. Hill, apparently unmindful of the pledge card just signed by the member from Georgia.

Mr. Upshaw finally succeeds in finishing, and with a grandiloquent gesture challenges Mr. Hill to join him in signing a pledge card.

"I will if the Georgia delegation in this House will sign, too," replies Mr. Hill, with some appropriate remarks about the moonshine industry in Mr. Upshaw's state.

The Georgians apparently are not enthusiastic over the proposition, and the discussion lags.

Congress is a great and solemn institution!

VANDERBILT BANK'S OFFICE BOY

Retains Place In Boston's Social Circle

William H. Vanderbilt and (inset) his wife

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—The only office boy in the world with five servants and a butler is sticking to his determination to learn the banking business from the ground up, despite the smiling disbelief of his society friends that he will play the game to the end.

William H. "Willie" Vanderbilt, son of the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, and heir to $20,000,000, is working regularly as an office boy for Lee, Higginson & Co., State street bankers. In this move he has the full sanction of his bride of November, the former Emily O'Neil Davis.

Mr. Vanderbilt and his bride are living on fashionable Beacon Hill, with a staff of servants at their beck and call. They have five servants and a butler.

Mr. Vanderbilt arrives on the dot, hangs his coat and hat up in the place set apart for office boys and takes his place on the bench with the four others. He answers telephone calls, runs errands and does everything expected of a boy in a banking house.

Outside office hours he is another individual. Then he lives the social life that becomes his position and fortune.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY MOVES THE PIANO

Once upon a time, just as Uncle Wiggily was about to hop away from his hollow stump bungalow, to go look for an adventure, the bunny rabbit gentleman heard a grunting noise in the parlor.

"Hello! Is that you, Nurse Jane?" he cried. "Is anything the matter? Is the Fuzzy Fox trying to nibble you?"

"Oh, no, it isn't anything like that!" laughed the muskrat lady, and, once again, Uncle Wiggily heard her grunting.

"There must be something wrong!" whispered the bunny, with a twinkle of his pink nose. "I shall peep in the parlor and see what it is."

And when he had looked—wasn't he the surprised old rabbit, though, when he saw Nurse Jane trying to move the piano from one side of the room to the other!

"Nurse Jane! What are you doing?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I am trying to move the piano," she answered.

"So I see—but why?" Mr. Longears wanted to know.

"Because I am tired of seeing it on this side of the parlor," replied the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I want it on the other side of the room. But I didn't like to bother you to move it, so I was trying to do it myself."

"It is too heavy for you," said the bunny. "It makes you grunt to try to move the piano."

"I know it does," sighed Nurse Jane. "But still—"

"Now look here!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, with another jolly twinkle of his pink nose. "You just do whatever else needs to be done about the bungalow, but leave the piano to me. I'll move it after I come back from having an adventure. I will feel very strong then."

"Do you think you can move the piano?" asked the muskrat lady.

"Surely I can!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "Just wait until I come back."

Uncle Wiggily hopped out of the hollow stump bungalow. He was feeling very gay and spry, and with his bright eyes he looked here and there for adventures.

At first he saw nothing, and then, all of a sudden, he caught sight of a little sparrow bird, caught by one leg in a tangle of string on a bush. The sparrow bird was fluttering—trying to fly away.

"Wait little bird! I will help you!" called Uncle Wiggily. And with his strong teeth the rabbit gnawed through the tangle of string and set the sparrow free.

And lo, and behold—the sparrow was a little boy bird named Dickie Flipfail, whom Uncle Wiggily knew.

"Oh, Dickey! I'm so glad I could help you!" said the bunny.

"And I am glad also!" chirped Dickie. "I thought I was never going to get loose again."

"Well, now that you can fly," said Uncle Wiggily, "fly away and be happy."

"Could I fly home to your bungalow a little while?" asked the sparrow boy. "Maybe Nurse Jane would put a little stickum plaster on my sore leg where the string pinched it."

"Why, of course, come along home with me," invited Uncle Wiggily. "You fly, Dickie, and I'll hop, and we'll see who gets there first. But after I get home I shall be very busy."

"What are you going to do?" asked the sparrow boy. "Perhaps I can help you. I'd like to do a favor, as you did one for me."

"Well, I guess you couldn't help me in this very well," laughed the bunny. "I am going to move the piano. But you can look on and grunt for me when the heavy part comes."

So Uncle Wiggily hopped and Dickie flew and soon they were at the hollow stump bungalow. Nurse Jane was out but Uncle Wiggily knew where she wished the piano moved. So, taking hold of the music maker, the bunny began to lift it.

"Ugh!" he grunted, and Dickie helped—I mean the sparrow boy helped grunt, for the piano was heavy. However, Uncle Wiggily had one end moved, and was lifting the other end to move when all of a sudden, into the bungalow, came the Bushy Bear.

"Burr! I want ears to nibble!" growled the Bear. "And as you have both paws on the piano, Uncle Wiggily, and can't push me away or scratch me, I'm going to nibble you!"

The rabbit gentleman didn't know what to do, but Dicky, flying close, whispered in the bunny's ear:

"When the bear comes at you drop the piano on his paw! That will fix him!"

"I'll do it!" whispered the rabbit. And when the Bad Bushy Bear lumbered over to nibble

"Ugh!" he grunted.

Uncle Wiggily's ears, the rabbit let one end of the piano drop smashing down on the bad chap's paw.

"Oh, scowzie! Scowzie! Wow!" howled the Bear. Then, pulling his paw from beneath the piano, out of the bungalow he limped, one of his teo nails broken. But it served him right.

Then Uncle Wiggily finished moving the piano, and he thanked Dickie for helping grunt.

"And if you hadn't thought of dropping the piano on the Bear's paw, I don't know what I should have done," said the rabbit.

So everything came out right.

Shaw Desmond says: "Dunsany is the link between the elemental Yeats and the modern Shaw, and so completes the trinity of magic which makes the Gael what he is—not merely the interpreter, but the unifier of the thing that was the thing that is, and the thing that is to be, and which is making the modern Irish writer the creator of "the synthetic story," which one day is going to displace "the novel"—that word of stupid unmeaning."

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

One of the favorite sports at this season is to knock the old year. We have indulged in this pleasure many times, but found that it didn't do any good. Every time we lambasted the old year with all the eloquence we could command the next year would be just as bad, if not worse. So this time we have adopted a new policy. We will not slam the year just closed, but will speak well of it, and see what that will do. As a matter of fact, it has been an excellent year for us. By consulting our bank book, we find that we have just as much money in the bank as we had one year ago at this time. We have not gone back, which is quite unusual. The state of our health is exactly the same as a year ago. We have the same number of friends, after losing some and gaining others; and, in fact, the books just balance all around. That is the best we can say of the old year. If this does not seem sufficiently complimentary to assure us of better times during 1924, we are very sorry, but it is the best we can do. Faint praise is better than nothing. As we have come along through life we have gradually learned that if there is anything radically wrong with any particular year, it is generally our own fault.

In starting out for a wife, King Boris of Bulgaria announces he will look over the young women of Paris, London, Rome, Brussels, Copenhagen, Berlin and New York. We would advise him to reverse the order and take a look at the New York girls first.

The same as always, the main trouble in Mexico is that there are so many Mexicans there.

OUR OWN DAILY SHORT STORY
In Doubt

A New York physician who has recently transferred his activities to the Hub tells of a Bostonian who, like most of his townsmen, is a precision in the matter of English, and who had occasion not long ago to consult the aforesaid doctor:

"What you need, more than anything else, is a tonic in the shape of fresh air," said the doctor.

Whereupon the Hubbite waxed sarcastic and inquired:

"Before we proceed further, would you mind telling me what is the shape of fresh air?"

CAN HE CUT STARS?

PORT HURON, Ohio.—Marcus Aurelius Hitchcock, the grand old man of Point Edward and Sarnia, who is personally known to the champion skaters, hockey players and sportsmen of Ontario, observed his eighty-second birthday recently.

Mr. Hitchcock is the pioneer fisherman of the great lakes. With him fishing is a business and not a pastime. He started seining fish when he was nine years old and is still carrying on. He has the records to prove that he has taken more fish from Lake Huron than any man alive. Despite his 82 years he is still a nimble skater, and he fully expects to be cutting the figure "8" on Sarnia bay this winter.—Detroit News.

TOO MANY LAW SUITS, TOO FEW COURTS MAY DELAY JUSTICE IN U. S.

"I BELIEVE there is a good deal of exaggeration in the frequent charges that the administration of justice in America is too slow and too costly. When there is delay and undue expense the answer can be found in a simple sentence: Too few courts and too many law suits." So said John W. Davis, former president of the American Bar Association and former ambassador to Great Britain, recently.

"If the American people want speedier justice, they must be prepared to pay for it, or they must lose a good deal of their fondness for going to law, he continued.

"Americans seem to be the most litigious people in the world. The English have the reputation of being great lovers of law, but, in proportion to population, the cases heard in the English courts in a year are only equal to the cases heard in a similar period in our Federal Courts alone.

"There is a common fallacy in talking about poor and rich before the law. Justice is not concerned with whether a complianant is rich or poor. Theoretically, at least, justice is blind and is supposed to know nothing of its suitors beyond the rights and wrongs of their disputes.

"There are of course, exceptions," said Mr. Davis, "and there is one remedy which has proved very successful in a number of States and might very readily be applied all over the country. I refer to the Small Claims Courts, which have been established in various cities in California, Idaho, Massachusetts, Kansas, Illinois, Ohio, Oregon and three or four other States.

"In these courts it is necessary for either side to engage an attorney, and the procedure has been robbed of every technicality. The two parties to the dispute simply appear in person before the Judge and tell their story. He renders a prompt decision on the facts in accordance with the law."

TOO FRIENDLY STRANGER

The tramcar was full and the old lady tired and feeble. Quickly a young man offered his seat.

"One minute," she said. "Do I look eccentric?"

"No, madam."

"Or as if I'm likely to go straight home and alter my will in your favor?"

"Such a thing never occurred to me," stammered the young man, while the other passengers stared and giggled.

"Then I'll take your seat," said the old lady. "But I don't want any misunderstanding."

Members of Sunset Club Celebrate 84th Birthday of Mrs. Dominic Minnie

"I'm living today, tomorrow is God's; the past is gone; I have no yesterdays; I am praying that God can use me to the last day of my life." Such was the creed of life given by Rev. William G. Cowan, 85 years of age, to members of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, who were delightfully entertained Saturday afternoon at the J. C. Kern home at 332 West Harvard street, on the occasion of the eighty-fourth birthday of Mrs. Kern's mother, Mrs. Dominic Minnie.

Sharing the happiness of the afternoon with Mrs. Minnie was her husband, 87 years of age, also a member of the club. His birthday is on September 5, and an added fact of interest is that he and Mrs. Minnie celebrated their 67th wedding anniversary September 6, 1923.

Their daughters, Mrs. J. C. Kern, with whom they make their home in Glendale, and Mrs. Mary L. Veenfliet of Lansing, Mich., and their grand-daughters, Miss Ruth Kern and Mrs. Charles M. L. Nelson of Glendale, arranged the affair on Saturday. While Mrs. Kern and her daughters served as charming hostesses, Mrs. Veenfliet contributed to the happiness of the occasion by a telegraphic greeting.

Daughter's Greeting

Her birthday greeting to her mother was read to the company. It said, "Loving congratulations on your birthday, dear mother. Happy returns in health and enjoyment of life. It has been a fine long road, hasn't it? Getting near the hilltop, pleasant in the devotion of husband, sons, daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Greetings to the Sunset club, assembled in your honor."

Mrs. Veenfliet is executive secretary of the Private Schools' association of Michigan.

The afternoon was spent most informally, Rev. Cowan's enjoyable sketch of his life being one of the pleasing features. A. H. Cleveland graciously responded to requests for his poem, "Old Times for New," which he learned when a boy of 10 years. Phonograph music was also enjoyed.

Charles Bock of Eagle Rock, age 94, was the oldest person present in the club company, and Mrs. James F. Ireland, 74 years of age, was the youngest.

Combined Ages 1185

There were present Dominic Minnie, age 87; Mrs. Minnie, 84; Charles Bock, 94; Mrs. Bock, 82; Henry Clay Brown, 94; James F. Ireland, 82; Mrs. Ireland, 74; Mrs. Mary Phillips, 87; Mrs. Della R. Stone, 87; Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox, 86; A. H. Cleveland, 86; Rev. William G. Cowan, 85; A. W. Scudder, 79; Mrs. Scudder, 78. Their ages total 1185.

During the afternoon special mention was made of the club members unable to be present. Greetings were received by Mrs. Minnie from several of them.

A birthday luncheon was served on a pretty table with salmon pink sweetpeas as a centerpiece. Before Mrs. Minnie's place was a beautifully decorated pink and white birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Minnie and their guests were most happy to have Rev. H. C. Mullen, pastor of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church, and Mrs. Mullen, join the company before farewells were said.

POLICE PROBING THREE ROBBERIES

Burglaries, Minor Accidents, Make Up Main Items on Week-End Docket

The police docket for the week-end was unusually light, three burglaries and several minor accidents making up the calendar.

H. O. Moffit, 618 North Louise street, reported that his home had been burglarized while the family was attending church Sunday night.

A few minutes later C. M. Pomeroy, next door neighbor at 622 North Louise, also complained of burglars, and police investigated both crimes. The exact amount of loss has not been determined, but will be reported to the dpeartment today.

B. M. Smith, who resides in a tent back of the new Union High school building on East Broadway, reported to the police last night that some thief had stolen his trunk containing all his clothes, his insurance policies and other personal effects. Lieut. Louis Nunn and Officer W. W. Hedrick were detailed on the case but could find no trace of the intruder.

LA CRESCENTA

CLASS GRADUATES FROM 8TH GRADE

Mrs. Ethel Moyse Is Principal Speaker at Exercises At La Crescenta

By MARY B. DARROW
Written for The Evening News

Amid a stage setting of greenery—the youthful mid-year graduating class stepped off the eighth grade stage last evening and will on Monday, enter the portals of the Glendale Union High school. There was not the pomp and glory generally attendant on May or June graduating exercises, but the spirit of the occasion was the same. The practice of sending flowers up on the stage was voted on and vetoed by the sensible class of '23-'24, with the result the young people carried home flowers which had been put into the class rooms till after the exercises.

The program, which was opened by Rev. Kelso who delivered a most beautiful prayer of invocation, was simple yet strong in spirit. "Fisherman's Prayer" by Girls' Glee club, composed of members of the seventh and eighth grades.

Little Miss Katherine Reinhard perhaps jarred our extreme feeling of satisfaction, when she put the question to us—"What about parks?" Yes, what about them? True, we have many natural ones, but none preserved for their beauty, and growing as our community is we need parks—at least space laid aside for one.

"Scout Organization," given by Helen Fisher, was a remarkably short, concise and brilliant talk on Girl Scouts. Truly, we know, Helen is a splendid Scout in thought, word and deed.

Mrs. Moyse Speaks

"Oh Mighty Land" was well rendered by the Glee club, after which Mr. Blanford introduced the speaker of the evening, the charming Mrs. Ethel Hume Flood Moyse, too well known in Glendale to need any introduction here. Mrs. Moyse is probably the keenest-minded humorist whom we have listened to in a long time. After her first few sentences Mrs. Moyse carried her audience right with her.

Interspersing her speech with clever witticisms Mrs. Moyse was most cordial in the welcome she extended to the members of the class in their journey on and into high school. Her principal point was made when she pointed out the fact the main thing to remember and do was to be natural.

Following Mrs. Moyse, Mr. Reinhard was introduced by Mr. Blanford, who said, Mr. Rheinhard would act in the double capacity of a member of the school board and a father. Mr. Reinhard, referring to a remark or series of remarks made by Mrs. Moyse, said it was the first time he had heard of motoring through school.

After the presentation of the diplomas the graduatng exercises were concluded by the singing of "The Brook" and "Shepherds of the Hills" by the graduates.

Little Miss Constance Angier was accompanist for the evening.

Mr. Blanford is to be complimented on the evening's program and the promptness with which it was carried out.

The class members were Frances Louise Clark, Earl Hitsen Curtis, Virginia Emma Fahy, Helen Norma Fisher, Louise Marvin Hedges, J. Edwin Earl Laughry, Glenn Myers, Jr., Katherine Blossom Reinhard, Robert G. Telfer.

Dr. Gavin Telfer arrived from San Francisco last evening, in time to attend his younger son's graduation.

Surprise for Clubwomen

Members of the Woman's club were agreeably surprised the other day when, on entering the auditorium for a silver tea, they beheld the beautiful decorations. The new curtains on the stage were a most effective background for the potted plants and shrubs so generously loaned by the Montrose Nursery.

The tables and piano were most artistically decorated with baskets and vases of marigolds and cornflowers to carry out the club colors, gold and blue. Many out-of-town guests were present, among whom were Mrs. M. Newcomb and Mrs. N. F. Fraley of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Newcomb, who has seen that club grow from two dozen to its present size, being a charter member, gave a most interesting talk on ways and means and the manner of raising them.

Miss Frances Morgan delighted the assembly with her exquisite dancing, while little Miss Marion Biescar played in her usual graceful manner. Miss Marguerite Hauber sang some dainty little songs accompanying herself. The club raised over $40 with the afternoon affair.

Mrs. C. A. Haskins, Mrs. E. Sluteman and Mrs. Louise Erwin were the hostesses and very popular were the dainty refreshments these ladies served—being chicken sandwiches and delicious cakes.

Mrs. Culbertson and Mrs. Mark Collins poured while Mrs. V. Findlay assisted the hostesses in serving.

Dr. and Mrs. Nettleton are entertaining as their house guest for the remainder of the winter, Mrs. Mary A. B. Nolte of Mount Vernon, Ind. Mrs. Nolte is an accomplished musician and will be an addition to the community.

Don't forget tonight is the night when Something weird and something new,
Just wrap a sheet around you.
To cover your head except your face,
You take a clean white pillow case,
Fix the holes and wear a black mask
Do not talk or even ask
A question of anyone at all —
As silence prevails in the hall—
At 9 o'clock in his usual way
The devil comes in his usual way
Then everyone uncovers his face
And sheds his sheet and pillow case
And dancing is resumed by all
And a good time had by big and small.
Positively no one without a sheet
Will be allowed on the floor, to move his feet
As sheets, pillow cases and black masks
Are some of the things the committee asks
The folk to do, and so to have a good time
Let's do as they say and fall in line.
Be sure to come early, no later than 8.
Do this, and the devil won't have to wait
For at 9 o'clock he comes with a yell!
Dispels the silence and goes back to—bed.

In these verses, composed by Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, the Montrose Chamber of Commerce invite you to the sheet and pillow case dance held tonight in the school auditorium for the Community fire fund. Good music and refreshments are promised, also a surprise when his Satanic Majesty appears in the dimly-lighted hall to dispel the gloom and chase the ghosts away.

Dr. and Mrs. Kelso accompanied by Mrs. Jessie Spencer Conline motored to Riverside yesterday to pay their respects to the late Elmer Bennet. Interment was in the Riverside cemetery.

Can't Stop Joint-Ease

"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in chest," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever."

We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results.

A tube costs 60 cents at druggists everywhere. Just rub it on and in a few seconds it disappears completely under the skin, and relief follows instantly.—Advertisement.

IMPROVEMENT OF 4TH ST. PLANNED

Association Calls Meeting To Work Out Details Of Big Project

The Fourth Street Improvement association, having organized last month, will now hold its first regular semi-monthly business meeting in the Grand View school, Thursday evening, February 7. The committee on constitution and by-laws, the committee appointed to formulate a plan of procedure for the association to follow to attain its objective, and the committee on membership, etc., will submit reports, and the associationwill buckle down in all earnestness in an endeavor to work out all details necessary for the launching of a successful campaign to expedite the opening up and improving of Fourth street from Burbank to Brand boulevard and on to Pasadena.

The rapid development during the past few years of the northwest section between San Fernando road and the hills has been nothing short of marvelous, and at the present rate of building activity the gap between Glendale and Burbank will soon be filled up.

Demand Street Opening

This steady and continued growth, together with the relief needed to take care of the congested traffic on San Fernando road, is making it imperatively necessary to open up and use Fourth street. Certain stretches of Fourth street have already been paved.

Property onwers on Pacific, Central, Brand boulevard and Verdugo road should particularly be interested in this opening up of Fourth street, it is declared.

The association plans to push this improvement with all possible dispatch, feeling confident that the property owners to be affected and the public in general will give their co-operation and that the City Council, city engineer's office, Chamber of Commerce and daily newspapers will lend their encouragement and help boost.

The meeting is at 7:30 o'clock next Thursday evening, February 7. All interested in this project are urged to make it a point to attend each meeting and lend encouragement to the committees who are giving their valuable time and best efforts to the tasks assigned them by the association.

New Year's Greeting From Oldest City

the basement, where it seems to be well authenticated that Mary was praying when the angel announced to her that she was to be the mother of the world's redeemer. The old stones of the foundation of the church in which she was, are still there, as well as the steps leading into it.

Home of Holy Family

"Afterward we went up the street a little way and saw an excavation which is thought to be the cellar of Joseph and Mary during their residence there. These are the only places which are authenticated at all, which have any Biblical reference.

"We had brought some lunch, so after we had driven out of the city to get away from the gaze and annoyance of the natives, we stopped at the roadside on the hill above the city and ate, viewing the city for the last time. We had heard that Nazareth was a cleaner, nicer town than Bethlehem, but we didn't find it any different. It has about 7000 inhabitants and Bethlehem 10,000.

"Going northeast over the hills we passed Cana, where the Lord performed his first miracle at the marriage feast. Then to the plain of Lubieh and passed the Mount of Beatitudes, where Jesus delivered 'The Sermon on the Mount.' I suppose there is no man living, whether a believer or not, but will agree that that sermon contains a philosophy of life which is the finest ever delivered. The mountain has a flat top so that it would be adaptable for the purpose and really has a double peak. It was here, also, that Saladin defeated the Crusaders in their last struggle on July 3, 1187."

Another letter from Mr. Kirk will be printed at an early date in The Glendale Evenings News.

Why Endure That Aching Back?

OES your back ache day after day with a dull, unceasing throb? Do sharp, rheumatic pains torture you at every sudden move? Are you so tired and nervous it seems you can never be well again?

Then look to your kidneys! The kidneys, you know, are the blood-filters. Once they weaken, poisons are apt to accumulate that well kidneys would have filtered off. Then comes constant backache, headaches, dizziness and kidney irregularities. One feels lame, stiff and achy—years older than he is.

Don't risk neglect! Help the kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills, the remedy home folks recommend. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's" Say These Glendale Folks:

John W. Mason, 1009 E. 4th St., Pomona, Cal., says: "Hard work no doubt weakened my kidneys and brought on attacks of backache. At times I could hardly get up or down because of the severe pains in my back. I had to get up often during the night to pass the kidney secretions. Doan's Pills relieved the pain and regulated my kidneys." Over three years later Mr. Mason added: "Doan's Pills never failed to straighten me up when I have had any sign of kidney disorder."

Mrs. M. P. Coover, 787 E. Washington St., Los Angeles, Cal., says: "I suffered intensely from aggravating pains in the small of my back. My back hurt so I couldn't stand and for a few days I was beyond going. This suffering put me in a nervous condition and weakness made me miserable. My kidneys became weak, too. Doan's Pills brought relief and continued use rid me of kidney trouble."
